VETERANS ARE URGED TO CLAIM COMPENSATION

DATE FOR RECEIVING BENEFITS UNDER ACT WILL EXPIRE ON APRIL 6

In view of information which has recently been given considerable publicity with reference to filing claims for compensation, the Veterans' Bureau desires to emphasize the limitations in the World War Veteran's Act which will become effective in the very near future.

Section 206 of the World War Veteran's Act provides that no compensation shall be paid for death or disability which does not occur prior to or within one year of discharge or resignation from the service (except in cases of presumptive disabilities, such as neuropsychiatric diseases, spinal meningitis, active tuberculosis, paralysis agitans ,encephalitis lethargica and amebia dysentery occurring to a degree of 10 per cent or more prior to January 1, 1925,) except where there is an official record of the condition during service or at the time of separation from service, except where proof of same is submitted prior to April 6, 1930. In other words, notwithstanding the fact that the official army and navy records fail to show the existence of disabilities other than those enumerated above as presumptive disabilities, affidavit proof may be submitted subsequent to April 6, 1930 where such proof establishes the existence of a 10 per cent disability prior to or within a year from date of discharge or resignation from service. On the other hand though proof may establish service incurrence of a disability, if such proof is submitted after April 6, 1930, it may not be accepted by the Bureau if it fails to establish the existence of a 10 per cent disability prior to or within one year from date of discharge or resignation from service. Where there is an official record in the war or navy department showing the existence of a disease or injury causing a now present disability, proof may be submitted at any time.

In addition to the above Section of the Law there is a further limitation on the filing of claims as contrasted with the provisions of Section 206 which has to do with the submission of proof. Section 209 of the World War Veteran's Act provides that no compensation shall be payable unless claim therefor be filed in case of disability within five years after discharge, or resignation from service, or in case of death during service within five years after such death is officially recorded in the Department under which he may be serving; provided, however, that where compensation is payable for death or disability occurring after discharge or resignation from service, claim must be made within five years after such death, or at beginning of such disability. The Bureau has construed the word 'disability' as used in Section 209 to mean a disability of a degree of ten per cent. The time for filing such claims may be extended by the Director up to April 6, 1930 upon the showing of a good reason for not having filed claim previously. There does not appear to be any exception to this rule wherein the Director may further extend the time except where at the time any right accrues to any person under the World War Veteran's Act, such person at the time the right accrues is a minor or is of unsound mind or physically unable to make a claim. In cases coming under the exception the time does not begin to run until such disability ceases.

In view of the importance of the restrictions above enumerated and the fact that a large number of disabled veterans may fail to obtain benefits by virtue of their not having filed claims within the time limit provided for in Sections 206 and 209 of the World War Veteran's Act, this public announcement is made so that the various Service Men's Organizations and other Organizations interested in the welfare of the disabled veteran may bring to their attention such restrictions and urge upon them the importance of filing claims and submitting all proof bearing upon the establishing of service connection at the earliest possible date, and before April 6, 1930 if possible.

Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Hutcherson and daughters and Rev. Hutcherson's mother, Mrs. J. S. Hutcherson of Palestine, who has been visiting here for the past week, left Thursday morning for Carizzo Springs, where they will be the guests of relatives. Rev. Hutcherson will be away over Sunday, and in his absence the pulpit at the First Baptist church will be filled by Rev. Charles McLane of Waco.

MRS. B. J. BASKIN HEADS LEGION BODY FOR CAMERON WOMEN

The temporary organization of an auxiliary unit of the Edwin Hardy Post, American Legion, was perfected at a meeting held in the County Court room Wednesday afternoon at which time the state president, Mrs. F. H. Carpenter of Sour Lake, outlined the manner and purpose of organization. Other out of town officials present were Mrs. Harry S. Estill of Bryan, chairman of the Sixth District of which Cameron is a part, Mrs. I. H. Bartz, president of the Bryan unit, and Mrs. L. M. Patranella secretary-treasurer of the Bryan unit.

Mrs. Estill as chairman of this district appointed the following temporary officers for the Cameron unit; president, Mrs. B. J. Baskin, vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Mitchell; chaplain, Mrs. John Denson; historian, Mrs. W. L. Turner; and sergant at arms, Mrs. W. E Lamb. These officers are to serve pending the arrival of the charter, which must have at least ten signatures before it can be applied for. The temporary officers are also eligible for permanent service, if the organization so desires. The charter is open for thirty days following organization.

The first meeting for the unit is to be decided upon by the executive board, at which time a more definite organization will be completed and arrangements made for a definite time and place of meeting. Those Cameron ladies present at the meeting Wednesday were Mesdames H. B. McClellan, T. P. Worcester, Grady Little, Albert Matula, W. E. Lamb, and A. F. Mitchell. L. Van Perkins represented the local American Legion Post

In her preliminary remarks Mrs. Carpenter explained that in order to be a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, one has to be a blood relative of an ex-service man, just as is the case in other patriotic organizations. During the war the Auxiliary's purpose was to help the soldiers, she said, and now its purpose is to help take care of the wrecks that came back to us. The organization stands for service. She lingered at length on the four veteran's hospitals in Texas and the work that is being done in these institutions.

There is a set program for the year to be followed by the units and Mrs. Carpenter outlined this program, explaining in detail what is to be done during every month of the year.

Following the organization, Mrs. Carpenter spent several minutes answering questions from those present

Misses Dora Emily Moore, Ethel Green and Lillian Mondrik came home last week end from Southwestern University.

PLANS TO OBSERVE CHURCHES BIRTHDAY

CHURCH OF CHRIST JOINS IN GLOBE-CIRCLING SERVICE. THE CHURCH 1900 YEARS OLD

The local Church of Christ is joining in one of the most unique services ever planned in the history of Christendom. It is planning for its greatest day on June 8th. This day marks the nineteen hundredth birthday of the church and the Churches of Christ around the world are all joining in the concerted and unified memorial.

Rather than centering in one great mass meeting, all members in every church, large and small, are to take part. The memorial will center around the communion service and every congregation is endeavoring to have 100 per cent of its membership present. The total will be between five and six millions participating.

Globe To Be Girdled

At 11 a. m., June 8th, the services will begin in New Zealand, where are to be found the first churches of Christ west of the International date line. It will then be 6 p. m., Saturday, Central Standard time, in America. The service of commemoration will move west around the world as the hour of 11 a. m., Sunday, arrives. Japan, Australia, China, Russia, Great Britan and all lands are to participate.

The same chapter of Scripture (Acts 2) will be read. The same songs, including 'My Faith Loks Up To Thee,' and 'All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name,' will be sung in all lands and in all languages. The globe is to be girdled with a twenty-four-hour service, ending in the Churches of Christ in Honolulu.

Local Congregation Joins In

The First Christian church is joining in with all the disciples round the world in this world-girdling service. Every member is asked to arrange to be present. Men who work Sundays are asked to arrange to lay off that Sunday and be present. The communion table will be kept spread all the day for those who can not possibly lay off. Elders will carry the communion to the homes of those who are ill or shut in. All members of the church who are not identified with a local church are asked to attend the nearest local church for the communion service that day, or to meet in homes if no church of Christ is in reach.

F S. LESOVSKY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CLUB

TAKES PLACE AND ASKS CO-OPERATION OF BUSINESS MEN OF CAMERON

F. S. Lesovsky was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce at the semi-annual meeting held on Monday night of this week.

Mr. Lesovsky at first declined the election but has been induced to accept this place of responsibility as head of the club and is to assume the duties incumbent upon him with a plea for co-operation.

Lack of interest displayed by members in recent months caused Mr. Lesovsky to exact from those present a pledge of co-operation. He makes a plea to the business men and citizens of Cameron to lend their efforts to make the club a vital civic arm in the march to community development and in making this plea he has the active support of those who have been in close touch with the activities of the club.

The club is not an organization to succeed with the efforts of a few and the president cannot discharge the obligations that are exacted of every man whose interest are involved in the community progress.

On next Monday night, April 7 directors are to be chosen for the club and it is desired that a large attendance of members be realized for this meeting and suceeding meetings of the club. The work of the club must be carried on through committee assignments and members who take these places are asked to lend their fullest co-operation in all matters pertaining to the organization of the club.

H. Douglass Criner is in Cameron for an extended visit with his daughter, Mrs. John Mangum.

Musician Suffering From Wounds Self Inflicted On Train

Paul Johnson, native of Topeka, Kansas, is in the Cameron Hospital, suffering from wounds said to have been self inflicted while riding on a north bound Santa Fe train last Friday between Brenham and Caldwell. According to statements by the conductor of the train Johnson was found in the passenger coach with both wrists slashed and his throat badly lacerated.

The ambulance of the Coleman-Eplen company met the train and conveyed Johnson to the hospital where his wounds have been treated and it is believed he will recover. E. O. RAILROADS TO OPERATE TRUCK AND BUS LINES

TRANSPORTATION DISCUSSED BY J. C. CARTER BEFORE COMMERCIAL CLUB MONDAY

J. C. Carter, personal representative of H. M. Lull, executive Vice-President of the Southern Pacific Lines delivered an interesting and instructive address on the plans and aims of the railroads.

Mr. Carter was invited to address the club on the occasion of the semi-annual meeting here on Monday night.

He spoke of present conditions and the trend of development for the future. He covered the entire subject of transportation, saying that the railroads were not fighting trucks and busses, but recognized the fact that they are here to stay. The problem, he said was to convey passengers and goods from one place to another in the shortest possible time with greatest efficiency and at the least expense.

He said that in solving this problem the railroads were planning to expend sixteen billions of dollars in the next five years, on improvements and new equipment. In the building of the new equipment a stronger and lighter metal than steel is to be used, thereby enabling them to haul 30 per cent more tonnage with the same power and with greater safety.

In discussing the operation of trucks and busses, he forsaw that in order to give the public the service they required, it will be necessary for the railroad systems to operate these new agencies of transportation even to the extent of taking over the bus and truck lines, in order to take care of the short haul business. He foresaw than on some of the branch lines the rails will come up, the right of way be made into highways and used exclusively for this service.

According to Mr. Carter, it will require the immense financial resources of the railways to properly operate the bus and truck business of the nation, now so hapidly increasing and this is the only way that transportation can be properly unified. Certainly no one would expect the truck lines to absorb the railways.

Mr. Carter having been in Cameron, his father having been W. B. Dickey a pioneer citizen, who had somewhat to do with getting the S. A. & A. P. Railway for Cameron and he felt very much at home here.

MIKE H. THOMAS SPEAKS TO CHURCHMEN HERE

INVESTMENT IN CHURCH LIFE PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS SAYS SPEAKER FRIDAY NIGHT

Combining short, pithy statements with side-splitting jokes and poetry of a contrasting serious nature, Mike Thomas of Dallas held the undivided attention of his audience for more than an hour when he spoke at the community Brotherhood banquet given at the First Methodist church last Friday evening. Between one hundred and seventy-five and two hundred men of Cameron availed themselves of the opportunity to hear a convincing talk from this layman It was impossible to get Mr. Thomas' talk in any sort of order, for it had no definite outline, yet his short, powerful sentences were full of force and truth. Examples are as follows:

'The serious side of life is in nowise associated with the church. Being a Christian does not prohibit anyone from doing things which the law does not already prohibit.

'The great question before the people of the United States today is 'What is the matter'

'America is busy today passing the buck.

'Men do not have nerve enough to stand up for the right.

'60 years ago you would not have tolerated what you do now. 40 years ago you would not have stood for it.

'The Eighteenth Amendment is not a failure.

'There isn't anything that is a failure unless you make it so yourself.

'Religion—it is a wonderful thing to you—when you are in trouble. Men don't give it a thought until they are in trouble.

'You owe a debt to the great Crea-

LOCAL ARTISTS HONORED BY BUSINESS WOMEN

MISS MARY LAKE HENDERSON TELLS OF CAMERON TALENT IN ART AND LITERATURE

Instead of having a Texas program, as the year book called for, Miss Mary Lake Henderson, leader for the evening, presented a Cameron, Texas, program at the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club held Tuesday evening at the club rooms. Talent in our midst was displayed in paintings, handpainted china, portrait studies, camera prints, poems, and stories done by Cameron people.

Honored guests were Mrs. R. H. McIntosh and Mrs. A. N. Green, each of whom had a display and each told briefly of her work. Mrs. McIntosh had on display several smaller paintings and one large tapestry, 'The Magic Pool.' Mrs. Green had three blue-bonnet scenes and one of a redbud tree, three of the four having been done near Cameron. Mrs. Green told of her lessons in an artist's colony in the Ozarks during the past two summers.

Miss Anna Lorenz of the Cameron Hospital was unable to be present at the meeting but she very graciously sent some of her work to the exhibit. There were two small plaques, one of the Christ and one of the Madonna Mary, which she did in Munich, Germany's art center, from models. A diploma from the hospital was on display with the seal which was design-

Mrs. Henderson as chatelaine was ably assisted in the entertainment of her guests by several ladies of the Aid Society. One of the features of the afternoon was the exhibition of the curios from the Phillippines. Miss Ada Henderson gave an instrumental little talk about them. Several vocal solos were well rendered and Miss Mary Rogers gave a comical reading in the most fetching manner. Dainty refreshments were served by the girls of the household. The neat little sum of $10 was realized which added to the pleasure of the afternoon by showing the ladies of the Aid Society that their effort was a financial as well as social success.

MRS. LLOYD MITCHELL HOSTESS TO TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge Club this week, when the following additional players were invited to enjoy the games: Mesdames James Childers, Simmie Burns, J. C. Martin and J. H. DuBois. Mrs. Martin made high score for visitors, Miss Nadine Bragg for club members and Miss Mary Lake Henderson was low.

The hostess used a variety of spring flowers for decoration—woodbine, spirea, violets and wild flowers that are in blossom at this season. The Easter motif was made note of in the rabbit centers which were used on the trays from which the guests were offered a salad and iced punch after the games. These went as table cuts, and the fact that it was April Fool was brought to mind, when instead of being filled with the usual confections, the rabbits held only a slip of paper with the reminder that it was All Fool's Day.

Mrs. Mitchell was assisted in entertaining by her son, Joe Lloyd Mitchell, and her niece, Miss Merle Mitchell.

Cottle and Miss Rose Rischar. The collation of pink tinted sandwiches, yellow ice cream, a salad and a baked apple carried out the chosen color motif.

SECTIONS WHERE SAVINGS DECREASED

A regional analysis of the drop in the nation's savings deposits in banks, as recently reported by the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division in its annual compilation for 1929 showing the first recession in national savings in the twenty years during which it has published this data, reveals that all sections except the New England and the Pacific States groups recorded losses.

The published figures showed that on June 29, 1929, the total savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States stood at $28,217,656,000, which was $195,305,000 below the similar total for 1928, when there was an increase of $2,300,000,000.

The regional analysis by state groups discloses, however, that the six New England states as a group gained more than $83,800,000 in savings and 152,934 in savings depositors, while the seven Pacific states as a group gained over $79,000,000 in deposits and nearly 278,000 in number of depositors. The gains in these two sections, however, were smaller than the gains recorded there for 1928. The sections which showed losses are the Middle Atlantic States, Southern States, East Central States and the West Central States.

Mrs. Leland Denson Is Guest Country Club Bridge Party Here

A home-like atmosphere was created at the Cameron Country Club on Thursday afternoon by the use of numerous bridge lamps and floor pillows, when Mesdames Eber Flinn and John C. Young entertained, naming as honor guest, Mrs. Leland Denson of Temple. Lavendar and yellow were the chosen colors for all appointments and they were emphasized in baskets and bowls of calendulas and sweet peas and wisteria, in the table covers of lavendar, in the score pads fashioned of yellow silk sachets decorated in lavendar, and in the dainty springtime tallies, which were passed on pillows by Misses Margaret Martin and Viola Thomas, who assisted in the entertainment.

Game awards, lovely boudoir pillows and a sweet pea corsage were won by Mrs. Bert Miller, Miss Dulce McCall and Ms. Dan Legacy, first, second and third high. Mrs. Denson was also remembered with a boudoir pillow of lavendar silk.

The collation offered the guests was also in colors with its salad topped with golden mayonnaise, lavendar tinted sandwiches, yellow and lavendar mints, and yellow ice. Trays were centered with pillow sachets of yellow wrapped in lavendar tarlatan, and these were given as table favors. While the guests were being served Miss Margart Martin entertained them with a pianologue, 'I've got a Pain in my Sawdust,' with Miss Helen Flinn playing the accompaniment.

Mrs. Denson of Temple and Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, were out of town guests.

Texas And Texans

By Will H. Mayes

Business Before Politics

The only reason why political years harm business is that too many people have single-track minds, and get so excited about politics they neglect business. If one-half the thought, the talk and the energy given to politics in Texas could be diverted into business and industrial channels this State would have almost magical development. If something could be done to spur business men to attend at least one business meeting of some kind for every political gathering held, great progress would be made and if every street corner group found talking politics could be diverted into a committee for community advancement, even the least progressive places would take on new growth. Texas is a great state, but it runs too much and too often to politics. Business should take first place.

Building As A Whole

When a town or community decides that it is self-sufficient and not dependent on the rest of the country, it's progress stops. There can be no real life without outside contact. There are isolated sections of this country that were among the first to be settled but that are not as good for habitation now as when first occupied. There are ghost towns, now dead beyond all hope of resuscitation, scattered here and there among those that have been keen to the advantages of keeping up with the times. No place can lag behind its neighbors and keep up its pride or influence. Watch the march of those about you and keep step with Texas. It's great to be a Texan, if one knows his State well enough to appreciate it.

Texans Should Know Texas

Texas should get ready, and begin now, to hold a centennial celebration of a kind and on a magnitude to draw every citizen of Texas to it. While entertainment would be necessary to draw the crowds, the greatest need is to show Texans, as well as the outside world, what Texas really is. Most of all Texans need to know their State. 'State-wide State pride will result from a knowledge of what Texas has done, what it is doing and what it can do. When all Texans know their state as they should, they will be ready to work unitedly for its best interests. Texas should get ready for a celebration of which every Texan can be proud, and create a Statewide organization to induce every Texan to see it and learn all he can about his State.

Scenic West Texas

Unless all indications fail, more Texans will tour their State this year than ever before. They are learning that the mountains and hills of West Texas afford scenic attractions that are unsurpassed by other States. Marfa and Presidio are each erecting $200,000 hotels to take care of the expected travel to Southwest Texas. Tourist camps and hotels from the Rio Grande to Carlsbad Cavern will be thronged with tourists who will be out to see the mountain country and the wonderful cavern just over the State line. West Texas hospitality will be taxed to the utmost in caring for the crowds.

Civic Club Improvements

Civic clubs in Texas are dispelling the idea that they meet merely to eat, sing senseless songs and laud themselves. There is hardly a club in the State that is not actively engaged in enterprises for the good of its community—caring for orphans, establishing libraries, educating boys and girls, establishing and improving parks, operating playgrounds, building huts for boy and girl scouts, assisting all meritorious enterprises and building up town and community spirit and pride.

In a few places the clubs are largely inactive in civic matters because they can not do big things that make a show. Some people are that way, too. At Sabinal, the Rotary Club has set out pecan trees in the park and this started other clubs to donating shrubbery and plants and otherwise beautifying the grounds. The results of a good example can never be foreseen.

Wisconsin Advertises Texas

That foolish Wisconsin realty board that undertook to keep Wisconsin people from buying Texas lands did a fine publicity stunt for Texas and especially for the Rio Grande Valley. Northern people are pouring into Texas by the trainload to see for themselves what it is all about, and they are buying land. Many large sales are being made one at $3500 an acre for a 10 acre tract near McAllen.

Texas should not boycott Wisconsin manufacturers who sell $40,000,000 worth of machinery in this State every year, but it might be well to divert a big part of that trade to other States just as a reminder that Texas doesn't need Wisconsin any more than Wisconsin needs Texas. It's great to live in Texas.

That Pecos Gateway

Barney Hubbs, now sole owner of the Pecos Enterprise, foresees a wonderful future for Pecos, which he boosts as the 'Gateway' to Carlsbad Cavern, where new wonders are being found; to the Davis Mountains, the playground of America and to the Pecos oil field, where liquid gold flows from the ground. Hubbs is a typical Texas builder, who believes the first duty of the press is to tell the world in no uncertain terms that Texas, and especially his own part of Texas, is the best of all God's fine creations.

Adopting Chain Store Methods

Much is being said about the inroads of the chain store business upon that of the independent merchants. The Cotulla Record broadly intimates that this is largely the fault of hometown merchants and says they can't depend on local pride and sympathy for business. They must modernize their stores, must feature service along with quality merchandise, meet competition in prices, and adopt modern advertising and publicity methods. The chain stores themselves have shown the home-owned stores the way to success, if they will but follow that way. The independent stores have all the advantage, but too many of them are not progressive enough to use it. The old mercantile ruts are worn too deep for safe travel any more.

Truck Crops Increased

Truck crop acreage has been more than doubled around Jasper in the last few years and the growers have organized an exchange for handling their products. Reports are that more than 200 solid carloads will be shipped from Jasper this spring, consisting largely of tomatoes, radishes, cucumbers, beans, watermelons, roasting ears, bell peppers, egg plants, okra and squash. A few years ago Jasper county farmers were satisfied to grow only cotton and corn. These are still grown, but vegetable shipments now increase their receipts about $200,000 a year.

Farm Auction Sale

Killeen, an enterprising Bell county town, started something new awhile back; a farmer's lunch club. Now it has inaugurated a farm auction sale, at which an experienced auctioneer employed by the Chamber of Commerce, sells at auction, without cost to the farmers, anything they may wish to sell, from the farms. Farmers are invited to bring in machinery, farm animals, anything they don't need or want on their farms, and the auctioneer will sell them to the highest bidders. Other chambers of commerce will watch the success of this movement with interest.

Strawberry Festival

Carrizo Springs will hold a 'Strawberry Festival,' April 5, and is expecting 10,000 people to come and eat all the fresh strawberries and cream they want. The town is working to make itself known as the strawberry center of Texas. East Texas strawberry-shipping towns now have sure-enough rivalry.

SICK HEADACHES

Disagreeable Feeling All Went Away Following Use of Black-Draught.

Paducah, Ky.—"For a long time I suffered with severe sick headaches that would unfit me for my work for two or three days at a time," says Mrs. C. H. Hall, of 222 Tennessee Street, this city.

"I would have these headaches if I let myself get constipated. I would also feel very dull and stupid and have a very bad taste in my mouth.

"After I heard of Thedford's Black-Draught and began taking it, all this bad feeling would disappear and I would not have the headache, so that now I just keep a box of Black-Draught on hand, and when I feel the least bit bad I take a dose and it relieves me at once. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, in fact I have done so many times, to friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way.

Refuse imitations. Get the genuine — "Thedford's."

Costs only 1 cent a dose. NC-227

Burbot May Oust Codfish

The nearest fresh-water relative of the cod, the burbot fish, may strip its kin of honors in producing medicinally valuable oil.

Scientific experiments, reported to the bureau of fisheries, have demonstrated that burbot liver oil is eight times as potent as cod liver oil in the treatment of rickets.

The burbot, inhabiting the Great Lakes and considered a pest by fishermen because it tears their nets and preys on small fry, may become a significant part of the commercial catch it is believed.

The annual catch of the fish, known also as lawyer or eel pout, was 510,972 pounds in 1927.

Cigarette Statistics

The United States Department of Agriculture says that burned or burning cigarettes are discarded in the United States at the rate of 170,000 a minute, or $90,000,000,000 a year. Ignition test made with pads of dry grass showed that a burning cigarette butt would start a fire in 90 per cent of the cases with a wind velocity of three to four miles an hour. The cigarette is one of the greatest fire hazards the forester knows. A trifling fraction of the enormous number of butts discarded is enough to do immeasureable fire damage in forests wood lands and grass lands.

Hunters in Red at Funeral

Hunting horses and mourners in hunting costume attended the funeral of Mrs. Anna Isabel Jones, a member of the Quorn Hunt club, at Gladenys, Wales, recently. Complying with her request that there be no indications of mourning, the corpse was dressed in her riding habit and reposed in a Russian casket of polished wood. The hearse was a hay cart, painted red the estate colors, and covered with moss. Mrs. Jones' two favorite hunters were attended by a groom in red hunting costume. Burial was in a wild and isolated place on a mountain side.

Decatur's Schooldays

The dashing Decatur who humbled the proud dey of Algiers, and after whom so many New York boys were named when he was in the zenith of his naval glory, lived in Powder Mill lane and went to school at the Lower Dublin academy in Holmesburg, Pa. For all its pretentious name the "academy" was a small log and stone structure with only two front windows and a shingled roof. Stephen Decatur did not take kindly to study, but he is said to have carved his name on every desk in the school room.—New York Times.

Chieftain's Banner Stone Found By Relic Hunter

A Banner Stone, valuable relic of Indian days has been found by J. R. Hunt, who resides in the Norman Valley community. This stone was found in the region of Randle Lake where village sites have been located.

This stone was used by the chief, head of his tribe and denoted authority and was carried at the head of processions on a staff.

Mr. Hunt has a valuable collection of Indian relics, part of which is on display at The Herald office. This find is a valuable addition to his collection and may be seen at his home. Mr. Hunt has been collecting Indian relics for a number of years.

Souvenirs From Garden of Eden for Tourists

If, on your vacation you happen to stumble into the town of Qurna at the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers you may not be impressed by the scenery or the city but you will soon be informed that it is the site of the Garden of Eden and to prove it you will be shown the "Tree of Knowledge," says a writer in the Washington Star. The tree is merely a decayed trunk with a few scraggly branches and these will soon be out of business, but the natives have thoughtfully planted another tree nearby and this baby will probably do service as "the tree" when the older one has departed.

Anyone visiting this locality is presumed to have come to see the tree for there is little else, and the children of the town are eager in their efforts to act as guides to visitors. The new arrival is at once spotted and surrounded by the juvenile guides and almost dragged to the tree. Arriving on the ground the boys will bound into the branches and offer chips as souvenirs.

APRIL IS HERE

Its name derived from a Latin word meaning 'to open,' April is one of the loveliest months of the year. It is the time of opening buds.

It is a season of new life everywhere. Grass becomes green and trees and shrubs put forth their leaves and early flowers put in their appearance. The birds start northward and most everything that makes summer has started on its way.

Still April is a month of changing weather. Occasionally there are cold days, again the days are hot. Changes from flashing sunlight to pouring showers are sudden and frequent and William Watson's lines—

April, April
Laugh thy golden laughter,
But, the moment after
Weep thy golden tears!

paints an excellent picture of the month.

The flower of April is the daisy and its gem is the diamond.

Our own observation has been that physical perfection and good sense seldom get together. Exceptional beauty and good, hard sense is a rare combination. It is, we presume due to the fact that the Lord apparently makes an effort to distribute the good things in life rather than pouring them all into one lap.

The bus and truck business has not entirely deprived the railroads of their source of revenue. According to a statement recently issued by the Rock Island this road set a record for the month of October, according to the income account statement for that month. The net income for that month was $3,269,440, the greatest for any October in the history of the road. The total operating revenue was $15,-779,723 and the net revenue from railway operation was $4,442,159.

Most folks can't stand too much prosperity. Perhaps the picture shows and the radios and the automobile are blessings in that they prevent the major portion of the race from piling up a lot of money and becoming cross grained and crusty. All these things keep the race poor and humble and hustling.

We believe that if a man has to bet on the ball game and the weather and congress, he should bet with his wife. The thrill of winning or losing would be the same and the money would all remain in the family. A poker game migh result in the woman owning the automobile and the set of golf clubs and the repeating shot gun but while this would be extremely embarrassing it would have some redeeming features.

The back seat driver usually knows just how the car should be driven and as a rule is free to express an opinion on the matter. Every community has a lot of back seat drivers. They have no public spirit of their own and are never a part of any community project, yet they always know how these things should be done. No car driver has any use for a back seat driver and the average community has just about as much use for the fellow who, while he never takes part in the community projects, at the same time is always ready to knock and tell how it should have been done.

Drain Tile "Logs" Used as Building Material

A "log house" in which the "logs" are formed by common red drain pipe tile has been built in Kingsville, Ontario, Canada. Charles Miner, who erected the unique dwelling, chose tile for the material because it provides dead-air space in the walls to protect the interior from cold in winter and heat in summer.

The house stands on a foundation of concrete blocks, except for the porch and steps, which are supported by the tiles. A wooden framework, sheathed with boards in the usual manner, was first erected and the tile "logs" were laid in courses like brick veneer up the sides. At corners, the ends of the tiles overlap in criss-cross fashion, much as did logs in the cabins of pioneer days. Where the ends of the logs are exposed, they are closed with cement colored to match. This insures dead-air space and prevents birds and squirrels from entering.

The cost of the unusual house is said to have been moderate as compared with the cost of the conventional wood or brick home.—Popular Science Monthly.

Early Man Had Faith in Arrow Divination

Long ago, in the most high and far off times, primitive man resorted to the making of magic to determine what course to pursue in the vast wilderness of his ancient world, writes Catherine Hargrave in the Boston Transcript. Arrow divination was a favored kind. To make this magic a circle was drawn on the ground with the proper rites and incantations and divided into the Four Directions. With more mystic ceremony arrows were cast into the ring and upon the manner of their falling depended the future.

The American Indians did this as well as the Asiatic peoples, and in both countries gaming sticks resembling arrows, sometimes with actual feathered shaftments and sometimes with the feathers painted upon them, were used to play a game much like the older magical processes, with a circle on the ground, divided into four or eight parts.

Cats Once Deified

Egyptian deification of the cat, says the Golden Book Magazine, has been traced as far back as four thousand years, and for many centuries the bodies of favorite cats were carefully embalmed and interred near the temple of Bubastis, the cat-faced goddess of Beni Hasan or of Heliopolus. One of the strangest archeological discoveries was that which disclosed the mummies of thousands of cats near the tomb of Beni Hasan recently.

Whether the domesticated cat is a native of Egypt is not known, but the first mention of the cat in China was as recent as 400. The cat also was unknown in Europe until just before the Christian era.

tor—whether you pay it or not, is up to you.

'Every man is either a lifter or a leaner.

'If a young man will go to Sunday school every Sunday for 25 years, pay his part of the load, announce that he believes in the Lord, Jesus Christ and realize that he himself is not perfect, he will get the biggest dividends from his investment of life.

'Very few men can do a big thing. It's the little things you can do that you won't do.

'The average man is not consistent in anything that he does. He claims he does his best, but he does not.

'The man who has made money has not anything to do with success.

'The greatest enemy in the world is the good man who doesn't belong to the church.

'Every man can commune with God Almighty when he sees fit.

'If you want to make something out of yourself, the first thing to make is a reputation.

'The only thing in life is service.

'If you will work, you will find yourself happy.

'If you can't play the game on the square, don't play it.

'If it were not for the churches we could not live in this country.

'The serious side of your life is that of not belonging to a church.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by Rev. E. S. Hutcherson of the First Baptist church, who was master of ceremonies at the banquet. Orchestra music was furnished during the early part of the evening by Rowland's orchestra. Immediately after the group assembled in the banquet hall, two verses of the hymn, 'Blest be the Tie That Binds' were sung under the leadership of John Rosson.

Other features of the program were addresses by Rev. Joel Hardigree of the Christian church on 'The Man's Place in a Bible School,' by Rev. C. A. Lehmberg of the Methodist church on 'How Men have Encouraged and Helped me in Church Life,' and by Hon. Jack Lewis of the Presbyterian church on 'What the Sunday school Has Meant to Me.' Musical numbers were a solo, 'The Gypsy Trail' by John Rosson, accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Cinton; pep songs by Miss Lorene Wade, accompanied by Miss Grace Eplen; and a male quartette from the Baptist church, Messrs. Ray Burke, A. C. Strickland, M. G. Cox and John Hays, accompanied by Miss Bess DuBois.

The purpose of the Brotherhood banquet, as given by Rev. Hutcherson was two-fold: To emphasize church and Sunday school work, and to stimulate social life among the men of the city, in order that they might become better acquainted. Following Mr. Thomas' address volunteer remarks were heard from Oxsheer Smith, teacher of the men's class at the Methodist Sunday school and from Frank Russell, representing the younger men present. Men from various Sunday schools volunteered to visit hotels, boarding houses, and the down-town streets early each Sunday morning until Easter and invite men to the churches.

The banquet was served by the women of the First Methodist church.

Crossed Wires

One evening a young business man in Wichita called up his best girl.

'Hello, Mary,' he said, 'is that you?'

'Yes, George dear,' came the response.

'What are you doing?'

'I'm all alone this evening.'

'Gee I wish I was there.'

'I wish so too.'

'If I were there, do you know what I would do?'

'What would you do, George?'

Just then the wires became crossed in some way and this is what Mary heard:

'Well, I'd pull back her ears until she opened her mouth and then I'd put a lump of mud in it. If that did not answer I'd give her a sound thrashing.'

A Wichita veternary surgeon says that any fool who would advise him to cure a balky horse by putting his arms around the animal's neck and whispering words of love in its ears ought to be strung up to the nearest lamp post.—Parade.

Trillingham, 'Yes, having been born here, I thought I would come back and live among you. How much for this land?'

Real Estate agent, 'One dollar a front foot.'

Trillingham. 'You could have bought it for $10 an acre when I was a boy. How much for acreage.'

Real Estate Agent, 'One thousand dollars.'

Trillingham. 'How dear are the scenes of my childhood,' as he turned away.

She was dying and her dying request was that her husband ride in the coach behind the hearse with her mother. The husband thought awhile and then replied: 'Well, see'n as it's your dying request, I'll do it. But I want you to know that it will spoil the day for me.'

'Popper, vot is a reverie.'

'Ach, ach, Abie dot you should be so dumb, vy, it's der fella vot judges der boxing fights. now run get Popper some of dot free running salt vot I saw advertised.'

Teacher, 'Tow about the sharp stones on the shores of big lakes.'

Student, 'They are most generally round.'

McCume, 'How did you get that blackeye.'

Fickel, 'Because I did not choose to run.'

Herbie, 'Mother, is it in a train or at a show that brother and I are supposed to be five years old.'

But goodness what an uninteresting world this would be if everybody had common sense.

Even Washington, our immortal George, performed comically sometimes.

All of you sit up and take notice that Old England is not losing any bets at the naval conference.

PAIN ACROSS BACK

Lady Who Took Cardui Says "It Made All the Difference In My Health."

Poplar Bluff, Mo.—"For a long time I suffered with pains right across my back," writes Mrs. F. M. Boatwright, of 831 Park Avenue, this city.

"I had nervous headache and sometimes I could not sleep.

"When I began to take Cardui I began to feel better. I was complaining to a friend how bad I felt. She had been taking Cardui and she told me to try it, so I did. Before that, I just could not relax, and I got very little rest at night.

"I took Cardui for several months and it made all the difference in the world in my health. I felt stronger and better than I had in many a year.

"I recommend Cardui to other women when they suffer from weakness and bad health."

Thousands of other women have taken Cardui to help them to build up their health. The good reports which have been received, telling of the experience of others, should encourage you to try Cardui, for your troubles.

Cardui is a purely vegetable remedy, and contains nothing harmful or injurious. It may be safely taken by women of all ages.

LIBERTY MAGAZINE TO PAY $25,000 FOR LIBEL

WIDOW OF TEMPLE HOUSTON GETS VERDICT IN FORT WORTH COURT FRIDAY

Fort Worth, March 28—The widow of Temple Houston, picturesque figure of Oklahoma's pre-statehood days and son of General Sam Houston, the 'Texas Liberator,' was damaged to the extent of $25,000 by a biographical sketch of Houston published by Liberty Magazine, a district court jury held today.

Mrs. Houston had asked $200,000, and suits by four children, still pending ask an additional $400,000. The suits charged the characters of both Temple Houston and his father were blackened by the sketch, particularly that part referring to Temple Houston as born of an aboriginal marriage.

Attorneys for the magazine announced appeal to a higher court, 'as a matter of course.'

They indicated also that they probably will not make settlement with four children but will face the charges of libel in United States district court here. In this case, the suits will be heard at the fall term of United States district court.

The provocation paragraph in the magazine article had stated that Temple Houston, one time Texas state senator and for ten years resident of Oklahoma in the outlaw days at the turn of the century, was the son of Sam Houston by an Indian mother. Put to the task of proving that this statement, although false, was not libelous, the defense rang in some of the colorful saga of the Texas hero to show Houston's reverence for the Cherokee Indian maiden whom he loved and married by Indian laws.

Don Sietz, writer of the article, admitted he erred as to Houston's birth saying that this statement was taken from old newspaper clippings. He denied the sketch was written with malicious intent, and counsel for Liberay contended that known facts justified references to Houston as 'wild one' and 'a dangerous citizen of Oklahoma.'

Male Critic Severe on Work of Women Poets

If an effort were made to determine what elements constitute feminine poetry, one would name first its chief characteristic — subjectivity. When a woman writes poetry her emotions generally center around herself and she is only interested in the world as something that reflects favorably or unfavorably on her own individuality. It is usually favorable and when unfavorable, wailingly agonized, writes Herbert G. Brunchen, in the North American Review.

As an artist it is rarely that a woman can translate her emotions objectively; in other words to comprehend the world and the human beings that are part of it, not as they touch herself, but as they affect the great lot of humanity.

Feminine poetry, moreover, when it is cheerful, is generally so in a superficial way; it is too often over-refined through an erroneous and typically feminine conception of the difference between refinement and truth. It is embroidery poetry, very apt to be sentimental and cloyingly sweet.

And only in rare instances does one find a poem written by a woman where the unpleasantness and even tragic truths of human relationships have not been carefully censored or glossed over.

DALLAS LADY GLAD TO PRAISE FAMED KONJOLA

NEURITIS AND STOMACH TROUBLES SOON BANISHED BY POWER OF NEW MEDICINE

'I never had the least idea Konjola would help me as it did,' said Mrs. E. M. Fitzgerald, 4533 Worth street, Dallas. 'My stomach gave me a great deal of pain and trouble. Gas accumulated in my stomach after meals and the pressure against the heart cavity caused that organ to beat wildly. Neuritis attacked my side and my right arm and shoulder. These pains were often so severe that I could not do my housework. I did not sleep at night and became very nervous.

'Konjola is fast bringing me back to health again. My stomach is in excellent shape and I can eat almost anything without distress. The neuritis pains are gone, my sleep is normal once again, and my nervous condition has greatly improved. I shall always recommend Konjola to anyone suffering as I did.'

Konjola works with the important functionary organs of the body, drives the poisons from the system and regulates the organs of digestion and elimination. In this way glorious and abundant relief is brought about. It is recommended that Konjola be taken from six to eight weeks for the best results.

Konjola is sold in Cameron, Texas, at George A. Thomas and Sons drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Salad A Day Keeps Spring Fever Away

A salad a day keeps spring fever away, doctors and dietitians are agreed. The inclusion of too few fresh vegetables in the menu during the winter months is one of the factors to which they attribute 'that tired feeling.' While more green stuffs are now eaten than ever before, the age-old ailment has by no means been conquered.

The more palatable and salad ingredients, the more appetizing it becomes, they point out. If vegetables can be kept fresh and full-flavored until served, more than half the battle is won—and the patient stands a good chance of complete recovery.

In line with this campaign against lassitude, not only in the spring but throughout the year, Frigidaire Corporation has just issued a salad recipe booklet, showing how a wide variety of salads can be made with the aid of its new hydrator. This device a moist air storage compartment, which keeps vegetables crisp and tasty for indefinite periods, works an improvement in the palatability of vegetables, some authorities have declared.

The booklet, distributed free of charge by Keith Electric Co., describes numerous foes of spring fever, among them the following combination salad, containing a variety of vegetables rich in just the needed elements:

A combination salad is as it sounds, a combination of vegetables, served fresh from the hydrator. Combine tomatoes, peeled and cubed, with sliced cucumbers, small radishes, green onions, chopped celery and tender green beans or white wax beans, the last named cooked in salt water and then chilled. Combine these ingredients by tossing together lightly in a mixing bowl. Add mayonnaise or salad dressing; then serve on crisp lettuce.

Ways To Earn Money

Saturday is the best day for a student to get a job. If you wish to deliver, go to some grocery store or market and politely ask if they need a delivery boy. If they do, quickly agree on the price he is to pay you and see just how he wants things done. Try to do things just as he wishes them to be done and if you do not have any deliveries for a while, help him around in the store or market.

If you wish to work inside of a store, politely ask for a job and don't ask too many questions. Always be polite to the customers and try to suit them in every respect. Don't stay in the way because if you do, the next time you go to that store looking for a job, you are likely not to get one.

If you wish to sell papers or be a salesman, decide what you want to sell and get the agency from some company and sell until your heart is content.

—Vernon Mayfield.

Ways To Earn Money

There are many different ways to earn money. You can go to different merchants and get a job delivering handbills or you might get other kinds of jobs. You can make money around the house by cleaning the car or raking the yard. You can also get jobs at a filling station or grocery store on Saturday's and after school. There are many other ways I have not mentioned.

—William Slaughter.

A Saturlay Hike

The hike had been the subject to talk about for over a week. We had everything planned from the amount of pepper needed to the number of boys. The weather forecast predicted a wonderful day and it was backed by all of our best wishes.

The great day arrived with a bright sun. We left at six o'clock. Our first mishap was the breaking of our eggs. Then all went well until dinner. We built our fires to cook but had forgotten the grease with which to cook the potatoes. After a short conference to see what we would do, someone thought of using the bacon grease. We had dinner and all complained of the stomach ache. But this was nothing for we had something real to complain about later and that was Mr. Brown's nice red cow which did not like children. We chased the cow into another lot and finished our fun.

We left for home at 6:45. On the way through the woods. Tim thought he was bit by a snake which was only a briar. We got home half an hour late, as usual, and most of us got a good talking about being on time along with a little fable about the same.

Tom wore high heel shoes to school Monday.

Ruby Lee Copus is a new student in 7A.

'Lightning' has a bad cold and he isn't so peppy as usual.

Dick and Robert have their arms out of their armslings, but Howard still hops.

Wilson, alias 'Possum' says he will be glad when football season comes again.

We are expecting visitors this week. We hardly ever have visitors and we will be glad to entertain them this week.

Only nine more weeks—then vacation.

Our class did well at the County Meet. The team in arithmetic won first place; the spellers, second; our declaimers first and second places; in track we won several first places. We are proud of our class and we made a good showing if we do say so.

Clyde—'Did you find any similarity between Ireland and Spain while you were studying your lesson.'
Robert C.—'In Ireland all was Gaelio, while in Spain all was garlic.'

Giles—'Do you read Poe.'
Roy—'Naw, I read pretty good.'

'Iceland,' said Wilder, is about as large as Siam.'
Homer—'Gee, it is pretty big.'

Billy Tyson, Regina Moseley were absent Monday morning from 7C section.

Josephine Richards, Mertice Lunsford and Addie Mae Lunsford were absent Monday.

We read the poem 'Country Life,' one day in class. The next day we wrote descriptions of the country home that we could see after studying the poem. The following descriptions were chosen as the best ones:

The Country Home

By the side of a road stood an oid homestead. It was a country home with a weedy garden on one side and on the other a peach orchard; the boughs being unfruitful from lack of care. In this garden was a well crumbling in ruin. The path leading to this well was overgrown with wild flowers and plants. There stood near this well pine trees with benches rottening at their bases. Preadventure some knight wooed words of love to his beloved on these benches.

This old house stood near a lonesome town with gray and dusty streets. Bordering this town was the sea where vessels tossed by the sea unfurled and flapped their sails in the wind.

Today nothing remains 'of that tragic house, the house with nobody in it,' but on summer days when cool winds blow from the sea the weather vane on top of the village church points to a place where there once stood a lovely home. Maybe it housed a happy family or maybe an old miser lived here. No one knows.

—Charlie Smith.

The Country Home

The town the author lived in was by the sea. It was an old gray fishing village with a weather-vane. The small gray fishing vessels in the harbor had their gray sails furled.

The house was an old homestead, surrounded by trees. The vegetable garden extended to the tide limit. The home was inland about a half mile. Around it were pines and fruit trees but they did not bear fruit because of the saltines of the earth. Out to one side there were the bee-gums and the blackberry patch. There were many wild flowers in the woods but few around the house. The homestead was not very well kept because there were weeds around the well. The house, itself, was little and gray. The bees got honey from the flowers on the lattice-work over the windows.

—Giles Avriett.

The Country Home

This picturesque home was by the sea and overlooked the stately ships in the harbor. The weather-vane was blowing seaward and the little slip of garden stretched down to meet the tide. There were tall pine trees and small, unfruitful peach trees blowing in the wind. The bees delighted in gathering honey from the vines blossoming sweet under the window and the blackberries were ripening by the road beside the house.

—Roy Baskin.

The Country Home

The home was by the sea. It was an old gray homestead in an old sea worn town. Around the house grew pines, grass and wild flowers. The peach trees were choked with grass and did not bloom any more. On the windows vines grew. The well had weeds around it.

The town was an old sea-worn town. On the roadsides blackberries grew. Near the town there was a wood where Indian Pipes grew. There was also a vane in the town and gardens reached to the sea. Many ships were in the harbor.

—Warene Janeway.

The Country Home

In the old grey town by the sea stood the old homestead. The little strip of garden stretched down to where the tide was flowing. A vane on the house was seaward blowing. Some peach trees, not bearing grew around the little country house while pine trees grew beside it. A well stood in the yard with weeds hiding it. No flowers grew in the yard, only those that came up by themselves. The windows were covered with vines and the blooms were sucked by the honey bees. By the road-side blackberries grew and in the woods the Indian Pipes were found

—Regina Moseley.

The Country Home

The home was beside the beautiful, blue sea which was lined with tall pines. This house was one of the oldest homesteads in the town surrounded by pines, peach trees and weeds.

There by the side of the house was an old well with brush all around it instead of roses and other lovely flowers. There were no flowers but there were beautiful vines climbing up the well and up the side of the house covering the windows. What do you think was on these vine-blossoms. There were hundreds of little yellow and black bees. There were also many bees on the peach blossoms on trees by the house.

Beside the well ran a little road where blackberry vines grew. These blackberry vines that had many of the juiciest berries were eaten by the passing children while they also picked the Indian Pipes and other beautiful flowers.

MRS. DURWARD HAUSE IS HOSTESS IN EASTER PARTY FOR ENTRE NOUS BRIDGE CLUB

A very prettily dispensed Easter party was given by Mrs. Durward Hause Monday evening when she had as her guests members of the Entre Nous Bridge Club and one additional player, Mrs. Lester Williams.

Rabbits placed about the room were reminders of the season, score pads and tallies were in the chosen motif, and during the games candy rabbits were served in yellow and white mint cups. Miss Hilda Burke made high score and Miss Iva Wilson was low. Table cuts which were jar of candy in Easter wrappings, were won by Miss Frances Hause, Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. Lester Williams.

The hostess offered her guests a pear salad, sandwiches and iced tea after the games from trays decorated with Easter covers and centered with rabbits, which were cut for as table favors. Plate favors were smaller rabbits.

This club has recently added a third table of players to its membership, and the new members present Monday evening were Mesdames Kenneth Keith and Fred Johnson and Misses Essie McCall and Margaret McCown.

ed by Dr. Rischar and drawn by Miss Lorenz. There were two other paintings, one of a barefoot fisher boy and the other a portrait of Dr. Edward Rischar.

Mrs. J. M. Ralston was not present, but from her collection of paintings there was a pastoral scene

A splendid portrait study of Miss Annie McLane's grandmother was shown, and three camera studies that are the work of Mr. J. C. Martin.

In the display of handpainted china was work done by Miss Mollie Moore, who is an honorary member of the club and who gave an interesting talk explaining how the china is fired; by Miss Annie McLane, also a member of the club who told something of her work; and by Mrs. J. M. Ralston, who has a very beautiful and intricate piece which she calls her 'jewel plate.' Miss Henderson showed some pieces owned by her mother which were done by Mrs. Albert Pool of Abilene, formerly of Cameron, and by Mrs. Mary Henderson of Albuquerque, New Mexico, also formerly of Cameron.

Mention was made of Miss Cornelia Wallace (Mrs. Paul Jones), a former Cameron girl, who has a studio in Paris and is doing excellent work. Her mother, Mrs. E. A. Wallace, is also a talented artist, but none of their work was available for exhibit.

Cameron talent is not confined only to painting, judging from the remainder of the program Tuesday evening. There is and has been been much literary talent here. Poems written by Mrs. Sharlie Acree, a former Cameron resident were read by Mrs. Meta McCown; one written by Mrs. Nora Hefley Mahan of Eastland, also originally from Cameron, was read by Mrs. Millicent Bradford; and two by Mrs. J. M. F. Gill of Abilene, who once lived in Cameron, were read by Miss Bess DuBois. Mrs. J. B. Wolf, a present resident of Cameron, has the gift of rhyme,' and Mrs. Kathryn Robbins read a poem of hers which was inspired by a birthday party given her by her friends last year.

Mention was made of the literary work of Robert Lowe, who teaches English at Purdue University; of Max Rynolds, of Dallas. and of Mrs. T. S. Henderson, Sr., of Cameron, who has written 'A Christmas Story,' both fact and imagination, based on an incident in the life of Mr. Henderson's brother, Captain John N. Henderson.

During the business session preceding the program, reports were heard from the finance chairman, Miss Ann Stallworth, relative to the proceeds from the play, 'Aunt Lucia,' which the club sponsored last month, and from the chairman of the Park committee, Mrs. Lottie Bigbee, who reported that evergreens had been given the club by J. K. Freeman. W. W. Chambers, Andy Vogelsang, Mrs. John S. Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Owens of Brownwood.

Announcement was made concerning the meeting of District 3 of the state Business and Professional Womens organization, which is to be held at Waco, April 26 and 27. The club was asked by a representative of the Cameron Symphony Club to devote the program at the next meeting May 6, to music in observance of National Music Week, which is to be observed May 4-10. Those members of the B. & P. W. club who are athletically inclined plan to organize a basketball team to play games with the high school team and the one of student nurses from the Cameron hospital. A committee on organization of a team was appointed, consisting of Miss Anderson, Miss Ivy Wilson and Mrs. Kathryn Robbins.

Guests in addition to Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. Green were Miss Irene Pruett of Austin and Mrs. Dan Legacy.

Refreshments served following the program were also Cameron made and consisted of soda pop, cookies, sandwiches, potato chips and deviled eggs.

ST. RITA'S CIRCLE TO IMPROVE CATHOLIC CHURCH GROUNDS

Members of St. Rita's Circle of St. Monica's church have taken as a recent project the improving of the grounds at the church. Plans were discussed at the last meeting, which was with Mrs. Jerry Mikula and a committee consisting of Mrs. E. O. Echiller, Mrs. Bill Balhorn and Mrs. Ralph Michalka was appointed to purchase shrubs and plants. These ladies went to nurseries in surrounding towns and carefully selected all shrubs.

In addition to the planting of evergrens the ladies are superintending the building of a driveway on the north side of the church. When the work is finished members of the circle expect the property to be truly 'beautiful St. Monica's.' The Circle met Wednesday of this week with Mrs. Rudolph Richter.

DELPHIAN CHAPTER HEARS REVIEW OF YEARS WORK

A review of a part of the year's work comprised the program at the meeting of the Delphian Chapter on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lena Baskin.

Mrs. Ben Atkinson, leader for the afternoon discussed 'Our Debt to the Middle Ages;' Mrs. Lena Baskin discussed 'The Beginnings of Modern Political Problems;' Mrs. E. A. Flinn's subject was The Beginnings of Our Institutions;' and Miss Winnie Henderson's was 'Figures and Forces which Shaped Modern Europe.'

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Floris Criswell and the program will be a continuation of the review.

MASQUERADE PARTY

Members of the Ellen Caver Class of the Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a masquerade costume party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Willard Keith. The various assortment of costumes furnished entertainment as the guests were arriving, and during the evening many games were played.

Refreshments consisting of refrigerator cake, fruit punch and hard candies were served. Mrs. F. J. Beckerman is teacher of this class and Miss Grace Mangum is the class president.

MRS. OXSHEER SMITH HOSTESS TO FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Bluebonnets, Indian paint brush and dogwood blossoms furnished floral adornment for the Oxsheer Smith home when Mrs. Smith was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club last week. Mesdames T. S. Henderson, Sr., Geo. A. Thomas and J. W. Coleman were callers for the tea hour.

Game awards of pink and blue desk waste paper baskets were presented to Mrs. Rush Thomas for high score and to Mrs. John Watson for low

The hostess served a two-course collation consisting of a salad plate and a strawberry shortcake and coffee.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, and Mrs. Dan LeGacy of Idaho.

Funeral services for J. P. Looney, age 73 years, were held at the Friendship church Wednesday afternoon, April 2 with Rev. Chapman, pastor of the Methodist church at Buckholts, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Gregory, also of Buckholts.

Mr. Looney died Tuesday afternoon April 1, at his home in the Friendship community. He was born in Louisiana, but he moved to Milam County, Texas, during his early boyhood and had lived here ever since. His wife died about ten years ago.

Looney of Colorado City, Texas; and one sister, Mrs. Frank Graham who lives near Sharpe. The only out of town relatives present for the funeral was a niece, Mrs. King, of Huntsville.

Interment was in the Friendship cemetery. Pall bearers were as follows: Ross McQuary, Dave Fowler, J. D. Shelton, John Shelton, Carrol Adams and Hiram Walker.

VOLUME 51 | CAMERON, MILAM COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1930 | TEN PAGE STODAY | No. 50

VETERANS ARE URGED TO CLAIM COMPENSATION

DATE FOR RECEIVING BENEFITS UNDER ACT WILL EXPIRE ON APRIL 6

In view of information which has recently been given considerable publicity with reference to filing claims for compensation, the Veterans' Bureau desires to emphasize the limitations in the World War Veteran's Act which will become effective in the very near future.

Section 206 of the World War Veteran's Act provides that no compensation shall be paid for death or disability which does not occur prior to or within one year of discharge or resignation from the service (except in cases of presumptive disabilities, such as neuropsychiatric diseases, spinal meningitis, active tuberculosis, paralysis agitans ,encephalitis lethargica and amebia dysentery occurring to a degree of 10 per cent or more prior to January 1, 1925,) except where there is an official record of the condition during service or at the time of separation from service, except where proof of same is submitted prior to April 6, 1930. In other words, notwithstanding the fact that the official army and navy records fail to show the existence of disabilities other than those enumerated above as presumptive disabilities, affidavit proof may be submitted subsequent to April 6, 1930 where such proof establishes the existence of a 10 per cent disability prior to or within a year from date of discharge or resignation from service. On the other hand though proof may establish service incurrence of a disability, if such proof is submitted after April 6, 1930, it may not be accepted by the Bureau if it fails to establish the existence of a 10 per cent disability prior to or within one year from date of discharge or resignation from service. Where there is an official record in the war or navy department showing the existence of a disease or injury causing a now present disability, proof may be submitted at any time.

In addition to the above Section of the Law there is a further limitation on the filing of claims as contrasted with the provisions of Section 206 which has to do with the submission of proof. Section 209 of the World War Veteran's Act provides that no compensation shall be payable unless claim therefor be filed in case of disability within five years after discharge, or resignation from service, or in case of death during service within five years after such death is officially recorded in the Department under which he may be serving; provided, however, that where compensation is payable for death or disability occurring after discharge or resignation from service, claim must be made within five years after such death, or at beginning of such disability. The Bureau has construed the word 'disability' as used in Section 209 to mean a disability of a degree of ten per cent. The time for filing such claims may be extended by the Director up to April 6, 1930 upon the showing of a good reason for not having filed claim previously. There does not appear to be any exception to this rule wherein the Director may further extend the time except where at the time any right accrues to any person under the World War Veteran's Act, such person at the time the right accrues is a minor or is of unsound mind or physically unable to make a claim. In cases coming under the exception the time does not begin to run until such disability ceases.

In view of the importance of the restrictions above enumerated and the fact that a large number of disabled veterans may fail to obtain benefits by virtue of their not having filed claims within the time limit provided for in Sections 206 and 209 of the World War Veteran's Act, this public announcement is made so that the various Service Men's Organizations and other Organizations interested in the welfare of the disabled veteran may bring to their attention such restrictions and urge upon them the importance of filing claims and submitting all proof bearing upon the establishing of service connection at the earliest possible date, and before April 6, 1930 if possible.

Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Hutcherson and daughters and Rev. Hutcherson's mother, Mrs. J. S. Hutcherson of Palestine, who has been visiting here for the past week, left Thursday morning for Carizzo Springs, where they will be the guests of relatives. Rev. Hutcherson will be away over Sunday, and in his absence the pulpit at the First Baptist church will be filled by Rev. Charles McLane of Waco.

The Newport Cafe under the ownership and management of Mr. Smith for a number of years will be closed. Mr. Smith has a lease on this building and will close the place, transferring all his cafe interests to the Bluebonnet which is one of the most attractive and modern cafes in this section of the state.

Mr. Smith is being congratulated by his friends on this new cafe. It is a convenient and desirable place to eat and the people of Cameron and the public at large are invited to take advantage of the new and better service of this cafe.

MRS. B. J. BASKIN HEADS LEGION BODY FOR CAMERON WOMEN

The temporary organization of an auxiliary unit of the Edwin Hardy Post, American Legion, was perfected at a meeting held in the County Court room Wednesday afternoon at which time the state president, Mrs. F. H. Carpenter of Sour Lake, outlined the manner and purpose of organization. Other out of town officials present were Mrs. Harry S. Estill of Bryan, chairman of the Sixth District of which Cameron is a part, Mrs. I. H. Bartz, president of the Bryan unit, and Mrs. L. M. Patranella secretary-treasurer of the Bryan unit.

Mrs. Estill as chairman of this district appointed the following temporary officers for the Cameron unit; president, Mrs. B. J. Baskin; vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Mitchell; chaplain, Mrs. John Denson; historian, Mrs. W. L. Turner; and sergeant at arms, Mrs. W. E Lamb. These officers are to serve pending the arrival of the charter, which must have at least ten signatures before it can be applied for. The temporary officers are also eligible for permanent service, if the organization so desires. The charter is open for thirty days following organization.

The first meeting for the unit is to be decided upon by the executive board, at which time a more definite organization will be completed and arrangements made for a definite time and place of meeting. Those Cameron ladies present at the meeting Wednesday were Mesdames H. B. McClellan, T. P. Worcester, Grady Little, Albert Matula, W. E. Lamb, and A. F. Mitchell. L. Van Perkins represented the local American Legion Post

In her preliminary remarks Mrs. Carpenter explained that in order to be a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, one has to be a blood relative of an ex-service man, just as is the case in other patriotic organizations. During the war the Auxiliary's purpose was to help the soldiers, she said, and now its purpose is to help take care of the wrecks that came back to us. The organization stands for service. She lingered at length on the four veteran's hospitals in Texas and the work that is being done in these institutions.

There is a set program for the year to be followed by the units and Mrs. Carpenter outlined this program, explaining in detail what is to be done during every month of the year.

Following the organization, Mrs. Carpenter spent several minutes answering questions from those present

PLANS TO OBSERVE CHURCHES BIRTHDAY

CHURCH OF CHRIST JOINS IN GLOBE-CIRCLING SERVICE. THE CHURCH 1900 YEARS OLD

The local Church of Christ is joining in one of the most unique services ever planned in the history of Christendom. It is planning for its greatest day on June 8th. This day marks the nineteen hundredth birthday of the church and the Churches of Christ around the world are all joining in the concerted and unified memorial.

Rather than centering in one great mass meeting, all members in every church, large and small, are to take part. The memorial will center around the communion service and every congregation is endeavoring to have 100 per cent of its membership present. The total will be between five and six millions participating.

Globe To Be Girdled

At 11 a. m., June 8th, the services will begin in New Zealand, where are to be found the first churches of Christ west of the International date line. It will then be 6 p. m., Saturday, Central Standard time, in America. The service of commemoration will move west around the world as the hour of 11 a. m., Sunday, arrives. Japan, Australia, China, Russia, Great Britan and all lands are to participate.

The same chapter of Scripture (Acts 2) will be read. The same songs, including 'My Faith Loks Up To Thee,' and 'All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name,' will be sung in all lands and in all languages. The globe is to be girdled with a twenty-four-hour service, ending in the Churches of Christ in Honolulu.

Local Congregation Joins In

The First Christian church is joining in with all the disciples round the world in this world-girdling service. Every member is asked to arrange to be present. Men who work Sundays are asked to arrange to lay off that Sunday and be present. The communion table will be kept spread all the day for those who can not possibly lay off. Elders will carry the communion to the homes of those who are ill or shut in. All members of the church who are not identified with a local church are asked to attend the nearest local church for the communion service that day, or to meet in homes if no church of Christ is in reach.

F S. LESOVSKY ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CLUB

TAKES PLACE AND ASKS CO-OPERATION OF BUSINESS MEN OF CAMERON

F. S. Lesovsky was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce at the semi-annual meeting held on Monday night of this week.

Mr. Lesovsky at first declined the election but has been induced to accept this place of responsibility as head of the club and is to assume the duties incumbent upon him with a plea for co-operation.

Lack of interest displayed by members in recent months caused Mr. Lesovsky to exact from those present a pledge of co-operation. He makes a plea to the business men and citizens of Cameron to lend their efforts to make the club a vital civic arm in the march to community development and in making this plea he has the active support of those who have been in close touch with the activities of the club.

The club is not an organization to succeed with the efforts of a few and the president cannot discharge the obligations that are exacted of every man whose interest are involved in the community progress.

On next Monday night, April 7 directors are to be chosen for the club and it is desired that a large attendance of members be realized for this meeting and suceeding meetings of the club. The work of the club must be carried on through committee assignments and members who take these places are asked to lend their fullest co-operation in all matters pertaining to their departments of the club.

H. Douglass Criner is in Cameron for an extended visit with his daughter, Mrs. John Mangum.

The station has been in operation for the past two weeks but the formal opening with price quotations on new 1930 Federal Tires and the free gifts of tire and tubes will feature the opening Saturday.

The station will sell Magnolia gasoline and oils and Federal tires and tubes. An announcement of interest to tire buyers will be found in this issue of The Herald announcing the opening on Saturday.

Mr. Talasek asks the people of Cameron and surrounding territory to visit this station on Saturday and participate in the free gifts of the tire and tubes.

Musician Suffering From Wounds Self Inflicted On Train

Paul Johnson, native of Topeka, Kansas, is in the Cameron Hospital, suffering from wounds said to have been self inflicted while riding on a north bound Santa Fe train last Friday between Brenham and Caldwell. According to statements by the conductor of the train Johnson was found in the passenger coach with both wrists slashed and his throat badly lacerated.

The ambulance of the Coleman-Eplen company met the train and conveyed Johnson to the hospital where his wounds have been treated and it is said he will recover. E. O. Johnson, brother, also from Topeka, Kansas, is in Cameron to be with his brother who may be confined to the hospital for several days.

Mr. Johnson at first could not give a clear statement remembering only vaguely the details but on Tuesday he was fully conscious and greeted his brother. It was thought they would return home about Tuesday. He had been in Houston filling an engagement with a musical company.

LEAGUE REPORT

The official returns from the Interscholastic League held in Rockdale will be made next week. The data on this meet was received too late for publication this week.

RAILROADS TO OPERATE TRUCK AND BUS LINES

TRANSPORTATION DISCUSSED BY J. C. CARTER BEFORE COMMERCIAL CLUB MONDAY

J. C. Carter, personal representative of H. M. Lull, executive Vice-President of the Southern Pacific Lines delivered an interesting and instructive address on the plans and aims of the railroads.

Mr. Carter was invited to address the club on the occasion of the semi-annual meeting here on Monday night.

He spoke of present conditions and the trend of development for the future. He covered the entire subject of transportation, saying that the railroads were not fighting trucks and busses, but recognized the fact that they are here to stay. The problem, he said was to convey passengers and goods from one place to another in the shortest possible time with greatest efficiency and at the least expense.

He said that in solving this problem the railroads were planning to expend sixteen billions of dollars in the next five years, on improvements and new equipment. In the building of the new equipment a stronger and lighter metal than steel is to be used, thereby enabling them to haul 30 per cent more tonnage with the same power and with greater safety.

In discussing the operation of trucks and busses, he forsaw that in order to give the public the service they required, it will be necessary for the railroad systems to operate these new agencies of transportation even to the extent of taking over the bus and truck lines, in order to take care of the short haul business. He foresaw than on some of the branch lines the rails will come up, the right of way be made into highways and used exclusively for this service.

According to Mr. Carter, it will require the immense financial resources of the railways to properly operate the bus and truck business of the nation, now so rapidly increasing and this is the only way that transportation can be properly unified. Certainly no one would expect the truck lines to absorb the railways.

Mr. Carter was born in Cameron, his father having been W. B. Dickey a pioneer citizen, who had somewhat to do with getting the S. A. & A. P. Railway for Cameron and he felt very much at home here.

MIKE H. THOMAS SPEAKS TO CHURCHMEN HERE

INVESTMENT IN CHURCH LIFE PAYS BIG DIVIDENDS SAYS SPEAKER FRIDAY NIGHT

Combining short, pithy statements with side-splitting jokes and poetry of a contrasting serious nature, Mike Thomas of Dallas held the undivided attention of his audience for more than an hour when he spoke at the community Brotherhood banquet given at the First Methodist church last Friday evening. Between one hundred and seventy-five and two hundred men of Cameron availed themselves of the opportunity to hear a convincing talk from this layman It was impossible to get Mr. Thomas' talk in any sort of order, for he had no definite outline, yet his short, powerful sentences were full of force and truth. Examples are as follows:

'The serious side of life is in nowise associated with the church. Being a Christian does not prohibit anyone from doing things which the law does not already prohibit.

'The great question before the people of the United States today is 'What is the matter'

'America is busy today passing the buck.

'Men do not have nerve enough to stand up for the right.

'60 years ago you would not have tolerated what you do now. 40 years ago you would not have stood for it.

'The Eighteenth Amendment is not a failure.

'There isn't anything that is a failure unless you make it so yourself.

'Religion—it is a wonderful thing to you—when you are in trouble. Men don't give it a thought until they are in trouble.

'You owe a debt to the great Cre-

MISS MARY LAKE HENDERSON TELLS OF CAMERON TALENT IN ART AND LITERATURE

Instead of having a Texas program, as the year book called for, Miss Mary Lake Henderson, leader for the evening, presented a Cameron, Texas, program at the regular meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club held Tuesday evening at the club rooms. Talent in our midst was displayed in paintings, handpainted china, portrait studies, camera prints, poems, and stories done by Cameron people.

Honored guests were Mrs. R. H. McIntosh and Mrs. A. N. Green, each of whom had a display and each told briefly of her work. Mrs. McIntosh had on display several smaller paintings and one large tapestry, 'The Magic Pool.' Mrs. Green had three blue-bonnet scenes and one of a redbud tree, three of the four having been done near Cameron. Mrs. Green told of her studies in an artist's colony in the Ozarks during the past two summers.

Miss Anna Lorenz of the Cameron Hospital was unable to be present at the meeting but she very graciously sent some of her work to the exhibit. There were two small plaques, one of the Christ and one of the Madonna Mary, which she did in Munich, Germany's art center, from models. A diploma from the hospital was on display with the seal which was design-

The tea given by the ladies of the Baptist church at the residence of Mrs. T. S. Henderson last Thursday afternoon was one of the most charming functions of the season. Mrs. Henderson as chatelaine was ably assisted in the entertainment of her guests by several ladies of the Aid Society. One of the features of the afternoon was the exhibition of the curios from the Phillippines. Miss Ada Henderson gave an instrumental little talk about them. Several vocal solos were well rendered and Miss Mary Rogers gave a comical reading in the most fetching manner. Dainty refreshments were served by the girls of the household. The neat little sum of $10 was realized which added to the pleasure of the afternoon by showing the ladies of the Aid Society that their effort was a financial as well as social success.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A number of families attended church services together last Sunday morning, but the largest family having all its members present was the Walters family, and they were awarded the prize, a pretty pot plant.

MRS. LLOYD MITCHELL HOSTESS TO TUESDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell was hostess to members of the Tuesday Bridge Club this week, when the following additional players were invited to enjoy the games: Mesdames James Childers, Simmie Burns, J. C. Martin and J. H. DuBois. Mrs. Martin made high score for visitors, Miss Nadine Bragg for club members and Miss Mary Lake Henderson was low.

The hostess used a variety of spring flowers for decoration—woodbine, spirea, violets and wild flowers that are in blossom at this season. The Easter motif was made note of in the rabbit centers which were used on the trays from which the guests were offered a salad and iced punch after the games. These went as table cuts, and the fact that it was April Fool was brought to mind, when instead of being filled with the usual confections, the rabbits held only a slip of paper with the reminder that it was All Fool's Day.

Mrs. Mitchell was assisted in entertaining by her son, Joe Lloyd Mitchell, and her niece, Miss Merle Mitchell.

MRS. C. JENNESS HOSTESS TO BRIDGE CLUB TUESDAY

Using a color scheme of pink and yellow. Mrs. Clifton Jenness entertained members of the Triple Four Bridge Club at her apartment Tuesday afternoon. A flowering pot plant was offered as high score award and was won by Mrs. Eber Flinn.

Table favors which centered the trays from which the hostess served her guests were potted begonias, and these were successfully cut for by Mesdames John C. Young, P. W. Davis and S. A. Cottle and Miss Rose Rischar. The collation of pink tinted sandwiches, yellow ice cream, a salad and a baked apple carried out the chosen color motif.

SECTIONS WHERE SAVINGS DECREASED

A regional analysis of the drop in the nation's savings deposits in banks, as recently reported by the American Bankers Association's Savings Bank Division in its annual compilation for 1929 showing the first recession in national savings in the twenty years during which it has published this data, reveals that all sections except the New England and the Pacific States groups recorded losses.

The published figures showed that on June 29, 1929, the total savings deposits in banks and trust companies of continental United States stood at $28,217,656,000, which was $195,305,000 below the similar total for 1928, when there was an increase of $2,300,000,000.

The regional analysis by state groups discloses, however, that the six New England states as a group gained more than $83,800,000 in savings and 152,984 in savings depositors, while the seven Pacific states as a group gained over $79,000,000 in deposits and nearly 278,000 in number of depositors. The gains in these two sections, however, were smaller than the gains recorded there for 1928. The sections which showed losses are the Middle Atlantic States, Southern States, East Central States and the West Central States.

MRS. H. E. PYE

Funeral services for Mrs. H. E. Pye of Cisco were held at the First Memorning, March 29 at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. C. A. Lehmberg the officiating minister.

Mrs. Pye died suddenly at her home in Cisco Thursday morning, March 27. The body was brought to Cameron by Coleman and Eplen, who had charge of funeral arrangements. Interment was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Pye was a sister to Mrs. Robert Boykin of Cameron and to the late Mrs. T. C. Stafford. She was in Cameron recently, a guest in the Stafford home and she went from here to Temple for an examination in the clinic there. Her condition was not considered at all serious and her death came as a distinct shock to relatives and friends. Her husband preceded her in death exactly five months, he having passed away on October 27, 1929. He was also buried at Oak Hill.

Pall bearers for Saturday's funeral were W. O. Triggs, W. G. Gillis, A. M. Lankford, W. A. Bonds, Jeff T. Kemp and Roy Baskin.

Mrs. Leland Denson Is Guest Country Club Bridge Party Here

A home-like atmosphere was created at the Cameron Country Club on Thursday afternoon by the use of numerous bridge lamps and floor pillows, when Mesdames Eber Flinn and John C. Young entertained, naming as honor guest, Mrs. Leland Denson of Temple. Lavendar and yellow were the chosen colors for all appointments and they were emphasized in baskets and bowls of calendulas and sweet peas and wisteria, in the table covers of lavendar, in the score pads fashioned of yellow silk sachets decorated in lavendar, and in the dainty springtime tallies, which were passed on pillows by Misses Margaret Martin and Viola Thomas, who assisted in the entertainment.

Game awards, lovely boudoir pillows and a sweet pea corsage were won by Mrs. Bert Miller, Miss Dulce McCall and Ms. Dan Legacy, first, second and third high. Mrs. Denson was also remembered with a boudoir pillow of lavendar silk.

The collation offered the guests was also in colors with its salad topped with golden mayonnaise, lavendar tinted sandwiches, yellow and lavendar mints, and yellow ice. Trays were centered with pillow sachets of yellow wrapped in lavendar tarlatan, and these were given as table favors. While the guests were being served Miss Margart Martin entertained them with a pianologue, 'I've got a Pain in my Sawdust,' with Miss Helen Flinn playing the accompaniment.

Mrs. Denson of Temple and Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, were out of town guests.

Texas And Texans

By Will H. Mayes

Business Before Politics

The only reason why political years harm business is that too many people have single-track minds, and get so excited about politics they neglect business. If one-half the thought, the talk and the energy given to politics in Texas could be diverted into business and industrial channels this State would have almost magical development. If something could be done to spur business men to attend at least one business meeting of some kind for every political gathering held, great progress would be made and if every street corner group found talking politics could be diverted into a committee for community advancement, even the least progressive places would take on new growth. Texas is a great state, but it runs too much and too often to politics. Business should take first place.

Building As A Whole

When a town or community decides that it is self-sufficient and not dependent on the rest of the country, it's progress stops. There can be no real life without outside contact. There are isolated sections of this country that were among the first to be settled but that are not as good for habitation now as when first occupied. There are ghost towns, now dead beyond all hope of resuscitation, scattered here and there among those that have been keen to the advantages of keeping up with the times. No place can lag behind its neighbors and keep up its pride or influence. Watch the march of those about you and keep step with Texas. It's great to be a Texan, if one knows his State well enough to appreciate it.

Texans Should Know Texas

Texas should get ready, and begin now, to hold a centennial celebration of a kind and on a magnitude to draw every citizen of Texas to it. While entertainment would be necessary to draw the crowds, the greatest need is to show Texans, as well as the outside world, what Texas really is. Most of all Texans need to know their State. 'State-wide State pride will result from a knowledge of what Texas has done, what it is doing and what it can do. When all Texans know their state as they should, they will be ready to work unitedly for its best interests. Texas should get ready for a celebration of which every Texan can be proud, and create a Statewide organization to induce every Texan to see it and learn all he can about his State.

Scenic West Texas

Unless all indications fail, more Texans will tour their State this year than ever before. They are learning that the mountains and hills of West Texas afford scenic attractions that are unsurpassed by other States. Marfa and Presidio are each erecting $200,000 hotels to take care of the expected travel to Southwest Texas. Tourist camps and hotels from the Rio Grande to Carlsbad Cavern will be thronged with tourists who will be out to see the mountain country and the wonderful cavern just over the State line. West Texas hospitality will be taxed to the utmost in caring for the crowds.

Civic Club Improvements

Civic clubs in Texas are dispelling the idea that they meet merely to eat, sing senseless songs and laud themselves. There is hardly a club in the State that is not actively engaged in enterprises for the good of its community—caring for orphans, establishing libraries, educating boys and girls, establishing and improving parks, operating playgrounds, building huts for boy and girl scouts, assisting all meritorious enterprises and building up town and community spirit and pride.

In a few places the clubs are largely inactive in civic matters because they can not do big things that make a show. Some people are that way, too. At Sabinal, the Rotary Club has set out pecan trees in the park and this started other clubs to donating shrubbery and plants and otherwise beautifying the grounds. The results of a good example can never be foreseen.

Wisconsin Advertises Texas

That foolish Wisconsin realty board that undertook to keep Wisconsin people from buying Texas lands did a fine publicity stunt for Texas and especially for the Rio Grande Valley. Northern people are pouring into Texas by the trainload to see for themselves what it is all about, and they are buying land. Many large sales are being made one at $3500 an acre for a 10 acre tract near McAllen.

Texas should not boycott Wisconsin manufacturers who sell $40,000,000 worth of machinery in this State every year, but it might be well to divert a big part of that trade to other States just as a reminder that Texas doesn't need Wisconsin any more than Wisconsin needs Texas. It's great to live in Texas.

That Pecos Gateway

Barney Hubbs, now sole owner of the Pecos Enterprise, foresees a wonderful future for Pecos, which he boosts as the 'Gateway' to Carlsbad Cavern, where new wonders are being found; to the Davis Mountains, the playground of America and to the Pecos oil field, wehre liquid gold flows from the ground. Hubbs is a typical Texas builder, who believes the first duty of the press is to tell the world in no uncertain terms that Texas, and especially his own part of Texas, is the best of all God's fine creations.

Adopting Chain Store Methods

Much is being said about the inroads of the chain store business upon that of the independent merchants. The Cotulla Record broadly intimates that this is largely the fault of hometown merchants and says they can't depend on local pride and sympathy for business. They must modernize their stores, must feature service along with quality merchandise, meet competition in prices, and adopt modern advertising and publicity methods. The chain stores themselves have shown the home-owned stores the way to success, if they will but follow that way. The independent stores have all the advantage, but too many of them are not progressive enough to use it. The old mercantile ruts are worn too deep for safe travel any more.

Truck Crops Increased

Truck crop acreage has been more than doubled around Jasper in the last few years and the growers have organized an exchange for handling their products. Reports are that more than 200 solid carloads will be shipped from Jasper this spring, consisting largely of tomatoes, radishes, cucumbers, beans, watermelons, roasting ears, bell peppers, egg plants, okra and squash. A few years ago Jasper county farmers were satisfied to grow only cotton and corn. These are still grown, but vegetable shipments now increase their receipts about $200,000 a year.

Farm Auction Sale

Killeen, an enterprising Bell county town, started something new awhile back; a farmer's lunch club. Now it has inaugurated a farm auction sale, at which an experienced auctioneer employed by the Chamber of Commerce, sells at auction, without cost to the farmers, anything they may wish to sell, from the farms. Farmers are invited to bring in machinery, farm animals, anything they don't need or want on their farms, and the auctioneer will sell them to the highest bidders. Other chambers of commerce will watch the success of this movement with interest.

Strawberry Festival

Carrizo Springs will hold a 'Strawberry Festival,' April 5, and is expecting 10,000 people to come and eat all the fresh strawberries and cream they want. The town is working to make itself known as the strawberry center of Texas. East Texas strawberry-shipping towns now have sure-enough rivalry.

Burbot May Oust Codfish

The nearest fresh-water relative of the cod, the burbot fish, may strip its kin of honors in producing medicinally valuable oil.

Scientific experiments, reported to the bureau of fisheries, have demonstrated that burbot liver oil is eight times as potent as cod liver oil in the treatment of rickets.

The burbot, inhabiting the Great takes and considered a pest by fishermen because it tears their nets and preys on small fry, may become a significant part of the commercial catch it is believed.

The annual catch of the fish, known also as lawyer or eel pout, was 510,972 pounds in 1927.

Cigarette Statistics

The United States Department of Agriculture says that burned or burning cigarettes are discarded in the United States at the rate of 170,000 a minute, or $90,000,000,000 a year. Ignition test made with pads of dry grass showed that a burning cigarette butt would start a fire in 90 per cent of the cases with a wind velocity of three to four miles an hour. The cigarette is one of the greatest fire hazards the forester knows. A trifling fraction of the enormous number of butts discarded is enough to do immeasureable fire damage in forests wood lands and grass lands.

Hunters in Red at Funeral

Hunting horses and mourners in hunting costume attended the funeral of Mrs. Anna Isabel Jones, a member of the Quorn Hunt club, at Gladenys, Wales, recently. Complying with her request that there be no indications of mourning, the corpse was dressed in her riding habit and reposed in a Russian casket of polished wood. The hearse was a hay cart, painted red the estate colors, and covered with moss. Mrs. Jones' two favorite hunters were attended by a groom in red hunting costume. Burial was in a wild and isolated place on a mountain side.

Decatur's Schooldays

The dashing Decatur who humbled the proud dey of Algiers, and after whom so many New York boys were named when he was in the zenith of his naval glory, lived in Powder Mill lane and went to school at the Lower Dublin academy in Holmesburg, Pa. The "academy" was a small log and stone structure with only two front windows and a shingled roof. Stephen Decatur did not take kindly to study, but he is said to have carved his name on every desk in the school room.—New York Times.

Chieftain's Banner Stone Found By Relic Hunter

A Banner Stone, valuable relic of Indian days has been found by J. R. Hunt, who resides in the Norman Valley community. This stone was found in the region of Randle Lake where village sites have been located.

This stone was used by the chief, head of his tribe and denoted authority and was carried at the head of processions on a staff.

Mr. Hunt has a valuable collection of Indian relics, part of which is on display at The Herald office. This find is a valuable addition to his collection and may be seen at his home. Mr. Hunt has been collecting Indian relics for a number of years.

Souvenirs From Garden of Eden for Tourists

If, on your vacation you happen to stumble into the town of Qurna at the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers you may not be impressed by the scenery or the city but you will soon be informed that it is the site of the Garden of Eden and to prove it you will be shown the "Tree of Knowledge," says a writer in the Washington Star. The tree is merely a decayed trunk with a few scraggly branches and these will soon be out of business, but the natives have thoughtfully planted another tree nearby and this baby will probably do service as "the tree" when the older one has departed.

Anyone visiting this locality is presumed to have come to see the tree for there is little else, and the children of the town are eager in their efforts to act as guides to visitors. The new arrival is at once spotted and surrounded by the juvenile guides and almost dragged to the tree. Arriving on the ground the boys will hop in to the branches and offer chips as souvenirs.

SICK HEADACHES

Disagreeable Feeling All Went Away Following Use of Black-Draught.

Paducah, Ky.—"For a long time I suffered with severe sick headaches that would unfit me for my work for two or three days at a time," says Mrs. C. H. Hall, of 222 Tennessee Street, this city.

"I would have these headaches if I let myself get constipated. I would also feel very dull and stupid and have a very bad taste in my mouth.

"After I heard of Thedford's Black-Draught and began taking it, all this bad feeling would disappear and I would not have the headache, so that now I just keep a box of Black-Draught on hand, and when I feel the least bit bad I take a dose and it relieves me at once. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, in fact I have done so many times, to friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way.

APRIL IS HERE

Its name derived from a Latin word meaning 'to open,' April is one of the loveliest months of the year. It is the time of opening buds.

It is a season of new life everywhere. Grass becomes green and trees and shrubs put forth their leaves and early flowers put in their appearance. The birds start northward and most everything that makes summer has started on its way.

Still April is a month of changing weather. Occasionally there are cold days, again the days are hot. Changes from flashing sunlight to pouring showers are sudden and frequent and William Watson's lines—

April, April
Laugh thy golden laughter,
But, the moment after
Weep thy golden tears!

paints an excellent picture of the month.

The flower of April is the daisy and its gem is the diamond.

Our own observation has been that physical perfection and good sense seldom get together. Exceptional beauty and good, hard sense is a rare combination. It is, we presume due to the fact that the Lord apparently makes an effort to distribute the good things in life rather than pouring them all into one lap.

The bus and truck business has not entirely deprived the railroads of their source of revenue. According to a statement recently issued by the Rock Island this road set a record for the month of October, according to the income account statement for that month. The net income for that month was $3,269,440, the greatest for any October in the history of the road. The total operating revenue was $15,-779,723 and the net revenue from railway operation was $4,442,159.

Most folks can't stand too much prosperity. Perhaps the picture shows and the radios and the automobile are blessings in that they prevent the major portion of the race from piling up a lot of money and becoming cross grained and crusty. All these things keep the race poor and humble and hustling.

We believe that if a man has to bet on the ball game and the weather and congress, he should bet with his wife. The thrill of winning or losing would be the same and the money would all remain in the family. A poker game migh result in the woman owning the automobile and the set of golf clubs and the repeating shot gun but while this would be extremely embarrassing it would have some redeeming features.

The back seat driver usually knows just how the car should be driven and as a rule is free to express an opinion on the matter. Every community has a lot of back seat drivers. They have no public spirit of their own and are never a part of any community project, yet they always know how these things should be done. No car driver has any use for a back seat driver and the average community has just about as much use for the fellow who, while he never takes part in the community projects, at the same time is always ready to knock and tell how it should have been done.

Drain Tile "Logs" Used as Building Material

A "log house" in which the "logs" are formed by common red drain pipe tile has been built in Kingsville, Ontario, Canada. Charles Miner, who erected the unique dwelling, chose tile for the material because it provides dead-air space in the walls to protect the interior from cold in winter and heat in summer.

The house stands on a foundation of concrete blocks, except for the porch and steps, which are supported by the tiles. A wooden framework, sheathed with boards in the usual manner, was first erected and the tile "logs" were laid in courses like brick veneer up the sides. At corners, the ends of the tiles overlap in criss-cross fashion, much as did logs in the cabins of pioneer days. Where the ends of the logs are exposed, they are closed with cement colored to match. This insures dead-air space and prevents birds and squirrels from entering.

The cost of the unusual house is said to have been moderate as compared with the cost of the conventional wood or brick home.—Popular Science Monthly.

Early Man Had Faith in Arrow Divination

Long ago, in the most high and far off times, primitive man resorted to the making of magic to determine what course to pursue in the vast wilderness of his ancient world, writes Catherine Hargrave in the Boston Transcript. Arrow divination was a favored kind. To make this magic a circle was drawn on the ground with the proper rites and incantations and divided into the Four Directions. With more mystic ceremony arrows were cast into the ring and upon the manner of their falling depended the future.

The American Indians did this as well as the Asiatic peoples, and in both countries gaming sticks resembling arrows, sometimes with actual feathered shaftments and sometimes with the feathers painted upon them, were used to play a game much like the older magical processes, with a circle on the ground, divided into four or eight parts.

Cats Once Deified

Egyptian deification of the cat, says the Golden Book Magazine, has been traced as far back as four thousand years, and for many centuries the bodies of favorite cats were carefully embalmed and interred near the temple of Bubastis, the cat-faced goddess of Beni Hasan or of Heliopolus. One of the strangest archeological discoveries was that which disclosed the mummies of thousands of cats near the tomb of Beni Hasan recently.

Whether the domesticated cat is a native of Egypt is not known, but the first mention of the cat in China was as recent as 400. The cat also was unknown in Europe until just before the Christian era.

tor—whether you pay it or not, is up to you.

'Every man is either a lifter or a leaner.

'If a young man will go to Sunday school every Sunday for 25 years, pay his part of the load, announce that he believes in the Lord, Jesus Christ and realize that he himself is not perfect, he will get the biggest dividends from his investment of life.

'Very few men can do a big thing. It's the little things you can do that you won't do.

'The average man is not consistent in anything that he does. He claims he does his best, but he does not.

'The man who has made money has not anything to do with success.

'The greatest enemy in the world is the good man who doesn't belong to the church.

'Every man can commune with God Almighty when he sees fit.

'If you want to make something out of yourself, the first thing to make is a reputation.

'The only thing in life is service.

'If you will work, you will find yourself happy.

'If you can't play the game on the square, don't play it.

'If it were not for the churches we could not live in this country.

'The serious side of your life is that of not belonging to a church.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by Rev. E. S. Hutcherson of the First Baptist church, who was master of ceremonies at the banquet. Orchestra music was furnished during the early part of the evening by Rowland's orchestra. Immediately after the group assembled in the banquet hall, two verses of the hymn, 'Blest be the Tie That Binds' were sung under the leadership of John Rosson.

Other features of the program were addresses by Rev. Joel Hardigree of the Christian church on 'The Man's Place in a Bible School,' by Rev. C. A. Lehmberg of the Methodist church on 'How Men have Encouraged and Helped me in Church Life,' and by Hon. Jack Lewis of the Presbyterian church on 'What the Sunday school Has Meant to Me.' Musical numbers were a solo, 'The Gypsy Trail' by John Rosson, accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Cinton; pep songs by Miss Lorene Wade, accompanied by Miss Grace Eplen; and a male quartette from the Baptist church, Messrs. Ray Burke, A. C. Strickland, M. G. Cox and John Hays, accompanied by Miss Bess Du-Bois.

The purpose of the Brotherhood banquet, as given by Rev. Hutcherson was two-fold: To emphasize church and Sunday school work, and to stimulate social life among the men of the city, in order that they might become better acquainted. Following Mr. Thomas' address volunteer remarks were heard from Oxsheer Smith, teacher of the men's class at the Methodist Sunday school and from Frank Russell, representing the younger men present. Men from various Sunday schools volunteered to visit hotels, boarding houses, and the down-town streets early each Sunday morning until Easter and invite men to the churches.

The banquet was served by the women of the First Methodist church.

Crossed Wires

One evening a young business man in Wichita called up his best girl.

'Hello, Mary,' he said, 'is that you?'

'Yes, George dear,' came the response.

'What are you doing?'

'I'm all alone this evening.'

'Gee I wish I was there.'

'I wish so too.'

'If I were there, do you know what I would do?'

'What would you do, George?'

Just then the wires became crossed in some way and this is what Mary heard:

'Well, I'd pull back her ears until she opened her mouth and then I'd put a lump of mud in it. If that did not answer I'd give her a sound thrashing.'

A Wichita veternary surgeon says that any fool who would advise him to cure a balky horse by putting his arms around the animal's neck and whispering words of love in its ears ought to be strung up to the nearest lamp post.—Parade.

Trillingham, 'Yes, having been born here, I thought I would come back and live among you. How much for this land?'

Real Estate agent, 'One dollar a front foot.'

Trillingham, 'You could have bought it for $10 an acre when I was a boy. How much for acreage.'

Real Estate Agent, 'One thousand dollars.'

Trillingham, 'How dear are the scenes of my childhood,' as he turned away.

She was dying and her dying request was that her husband ride in the coach behind the hearse with her mother. The husband thought awhile and then replied: 'Well, see'n as it's your dying request, I'll do it. But I want you to know that it will spoil the day for me.'

'Popper, vot is a reverie.'

'Ach, ach, Abie dot you should be so dumb, vy, it's der fella vot judges der boxing fights. now run get Popper some of dot free running salt vot I saw advertised.'

Teacher, 'Tow about the sharp stones on the shores of big lakes.'

Student, 'They are most generally round.'

McCume, 'How did you get that blackeye.'

Fickel, 'Because I did not choose to run.'

Herbie, 'Mother, is it in a train or at a show that brother and I are supposed to be five years old.'

But goodness what an uninteresting world this would be if everybody had common sense.

Even Washington, our immortal George, performed comically sometimes.

All of you sit up and take notice that Old England is not losing any bets at the naval conference.

LIBERTY MAGAZINE TO PAY $25,000 FOR LIBEL

WIDOW OF TEMPLE HOUSTON GETS VERDICT IN FORT WORTH COURT FRIDAY

Fort Worth, March 28—The widow of Temple Houston, picturesque figure of Oklahoma's pre-statehood days and son of General Sam Houston, the 'Texas Liberator,' was damaged to the extent of $25,000 by a biographical sketch of Houston published by Liberty Magazine, a district court jury held today.

Mrs. Houston had asked $200,000, and suits by four children, still pending ask an additional $400,000. The suits charged the characters of both Temple Houston and his father were blackened by the sketch, particularly that part referring to Temple Houston as born of an aboriginal marriage.

Attorneys for the magazine announced appeal to a higher court, 'as a matter of course.'

They indicated also that they probably will not make settlement with four children but will face the charges of libel in United States district court here. In this case, the suits will be heard at the fall term of United States district court.

The provocation paragraph in the magazine article had stated that Temple Houston, one time Texas state senator and for ten years resident of Oklahoma in the outlaw days at the turn of the century, was the son of Sam Houston by an Indian mother. Put to the task of proving that this statement, although false, was not libelous, the defense rang in some of the colorful saga of the Texas hero to show Houston's reverence for the Cherokee Indian maiden whom he loved and married by Indian laws.

Don Sietz, writer of the article, admitted he erred as to Houston's birth saying that this statement was taken from old newspaper clippings. He denied the sketch was written with malicious intent, and counsel for Liberay contended that known facts justified references to Houston as 'wild one' and 'a dangerous citizen of Oklahoma.'

Male Critic Severe on Work of Women Poets

If an effort were made to determine what elements constitute feminine poetry, one would name first its chief characteristic — subjectivity. When a woman writes poetry her emotions generally center around herself and she is only interested in the world as something that reflects favorably or unfavorably on her own individuality. It is usually favorable and when unfavorable, wailingly agonized, writes Herbert G. Brunchen, in the North American Review.

As an artist it is rarely that a woman can translate her emotions objectively; in other words to comprehend the world and the human beings that are part of it, not as they touch herself, but as they affect the great lot of humanity.

Feminine poetry, moreover, when it is cheerful, is generally so in a superficial way; it is too often over-refined through an erroneous and typically feminine conception of the difference between refinement and truth. It is embroidery poetry, very apt to be sentimental and cloyingly sweet.

And only in rare instances does one find a poem written by a woman where the unpleasantness and even tragic truths of human relationships have not been carefully censored or glossed over.

DALLAS LADY GLAD TO PRAISE FAMED KONJOLA

NEURITIS AND STOMACH TROUBLES SOON BANISHED BY POWER OF NEW MEDICINE

'I never had the least idea Konjola would help me as it did,' said Mrs. E. M. Fitzgerald, 4533 Worth street, Dallas. 'My stomach gave me a great deal of pain and trouble. Gas accumulated in my stomach after meals and the pressure against the heart cavity caused that organ to beat wildly. Neuritis attacked my side and my right arm and shoulder. These pains were often so severe that I could not do my housework. I did not sleep at night and became very nervous.

'Konjola is fast bringing me back to health again. My stomach is in excellent shape and I can eat almost anything without distress. The neuritis pains are gone, my sleep is normal once again, and my nervous condition has greatly improved. I shall always recommend Konjola to anyone suffering as I did.'

Konjola works with the important functionary organs of the body, drives the poisons from the system and regulates the organs of digestion and elimination. In this way glorious and abundant relief is brought about. It is recommended that Konjola be taken from six to eight weeks for the best results.

Konjola is sold in Cameron, Texas, at George A. Thomas and Sons drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Salad A Day Keeps Spring Fever Away

A salad a day keeps spring fever away, doctors and dietitians are agreed. The inclusion of too few fresh vegetables in the menu during the winter months is one of the factors to which they attribute 'that tired feeling.' While more green stuffs are now eaten than ever before, the age-old ailment has by no means been conquered.

The more palatable and salad ingredients, the more appetizing it becomes, they point out. If vegetables can be kept fresh and full-flavored until served, more than half the battle is won—and the patient stands a good chance of complete recovery.

In line with this campaign against lassitude, not only in the spring but throughout the year, Frigidaire Corporation has just issued a salad recipe booklet, showing how a wide variety of salads can be made with the aid of its new hydrator. This device a moist air storage compartment, which keeps vegetables crisp and tasty for indefinite periods, works an improvement in the palatability of vegetables, some authorities have declared.

The booklet, distributed free of charge by Keith Electric Co., describes numerous foes of spring fever, among them the following combination salad, containing a variety of vegetables rich in just the needed elements:

A combination salad is as it sounds, a combination of vegetables, served fresh from the hydrator. Combine tomatoes, peeled and cubed, with sliced cucumbers, small radishes, green onions, chopped celery and tender green beans or white wax beans, the last named cooked in salt water and then chilled. Combine these ingredients by tossing together lightly in a mixing bowl. Add mayonnaise or salad dressing; then serve on crisp lettuce.

Ways To Earn Money

Saturday is the best day for a student to get a job. If you wish to deliver, go to some grocery store or market and politely ask if they need a delivery boy. If they do, quickly agree on the price he is to pay you and see just how he wants things done. Try to do things just as he wishes them to be done and if you do not have any deliveries for a while, help him around in the store or market.

If you wish to work inside of a store, politely ask for a job and don't ask too many questions. Always be polite to the customers and try to suit them in every respect. Don't stay in the way because if you do, the next time you go to that store looking for a job, you are likely not to get one.

If you wish to sell papers or be a salesman, decide what you want to sell and get the agency from some company and sell until your heart is content.

—Vernon Mayfield.

Ways To Earn Money

There are many different ways to earn money. You can go to different merchants and get a job delivering handbills or you might get other kinds of jobs. You can make money around the house by cleaning the car or raking the yard. You can also get jobs at a filling station or grocery store on Saturday's and after school. There are many other ways I have not mentioned.

—William Slaughter.

A Saturlay Hike

The hike had been the subject to talk about for over a week. We had everything planned from the amount of pepper needed to the number of boys. The weather forecast predicted a wonderful day and it was backed by all of our best wishes.

The great day arrived with a bright sun. We left at six o'clock. Our first mishap was the breaking of our eggs. Then all went well until dinner. We built our fires to cook but had forgotten the grease with which to cook the potatoes. After a short conference to see what we would do, someone thought of using the bacon grease. We had dinner and all complained of the stomach ache. But this was nothing for we had something real to complain about later and that was Mr. Brown's nice red cow which did not like children. We chased the cow into another lot and finished our fun.

We left for home at 6:45. On the way through the woods. Tim thought he was bit by a snake which was only a briar. We got home half an hour late, as usual, and most of us got a good talking about being on time along with a little fable about the same.

Tom wore high heel shoes to school Monday.

Ruby Lee Copus is a new student in 7A.

'Lightning' has a bad cold and he isn't so peppy as usual.

Dick and Robert have their arms out of their armslings, but Howard still hops.

Wilson, alias 'Possum' says he will be glad when football season comes again.

We are expecting visitors this week. We hardly ever have visitors and we will be glad to entertain them this week.

Only nine more weeks—then vacation.

Our class did well at the County Meet. The team in arithmetic won first place; the spellers, second; our declaimers first and second places; in track we won several first places. We are proud of our class and we made a good showing if we do say so.

Clyde—'Did you find any similarity between Ireland and Spain while you were studying your lesson.'
Robert C.—'In Ireland all was Gaelio, while in Spain all was garlic.'

Giles—'Do you read Poe.'
Roy—'Naw, I read pretty good.'

'Iceland,' said Wilder, is about as large as Siam.'
Homer—'Gee, it is pretty big.'

Billy Tyson, Regina Moseley were absent Monday morning from 7C section.

Josephine Richards, Mertice Lunsford and Addie Mae Lunsford were absent Monday.

We read the poem 'Country Life,' one day in class. The next day we wrote descriptions of the country home that we could see after studying the poem. The following descriptions were chosen as the best ones:

The Country Home

By the side of a road stood an old homestead. It was a country home with a weedy garden on one side and on the other a peach orchard; the boughs being unfruitful from lack of care. In this garden was a well crumbling in ruin. The path leading to this well was overgrown with wild flowers and plants. There stood near this well pine trees with benches rottening at their bases. Preadventure some knight wooed words of love to his beloved on these benches.

This old house stood near a lonesome town with gray and dusty streets. Bordering this town was the sea where vessels tossed by the sea unfurled and flapped their sails in the wind.

Today nothing remains 'of that tragic house, the house with nobody in it,' but on summer days when cool winds blow from the sea the weather vane on top of the village church points to a place where there once stood a lovely home. Maybe it housed a happy family or maybe an old miser lived here. No one knows.

—Charlie Smith.

The Country Home

The town the author lived in was by the sea. It was an old gray fishing village with a weather-vane. The small gray fishing vessels in the harbor had their gray sails furled.

The house was an old homestead, surrounded by trees. The vegetable garden extended to the tide limit. The home was inland about a half mile. Around it were pines and fruit trees but they did not bear fruit because of the saltines of the earth. Out to one side there were the beegums and the blackberry patch. There were many wild flowers in the woods but few around the house. The homestead was not very well kept because there were weeds around the well. The house, itself, was little and gray. The bees got honey from the flowers on the lattice-work over the windows.

—Giles Avriett.

The Country Home

This picturesque home was by the sea and overlooked the stately ships in the harbor. The weather-vane was blowing seaward and the little slip of garden stretched down to meet the tide. There were tall pine trees and small, unfruitful peach trees blowing in the wind. The bees delighted in gathering honey from the vines blossoming sweet under the window and the blackberries were ripening by the road beside the house.

—Roy Baskin.

The Country Home

The home was by the sea. It was an old gray homestead in an old sea worn town. Around the house grew pines, grass and wild flowers. The peach trees were choked with grass and did not bloom any more. On the windows vines grew. The well had weeds around it.

The town was an old sea-worn town. On the roadsides blackberries grew. Near the town there was a wood where Indian Pipes grew. There was also a vane in the town and gardens reached to the sea. Many ships were in the harbor.

—Warene Janeway.

The Country Home

In the old grey town by the sea stood the old homestead. The little strip of garden stretched down to where the tide was flowing. A vane on the house was seaward blowing. Some peach trees, not bearing grew around the little country house while pine trees grew beside it. A well stood in the yard with weeds hiding it. No flowers grew in the yard, only those that came up by themselves. The windows were covered with vines and the blooms were sucked by the honey bees. By the road-side blackberries grew and in the woods the Indian Pipes were found

—Regina Moseley.

The Country Home

The home was beside the beautiful, blue sea which was lined with tall pines. This house was one of the oldest homesteads in the town surrounded by pines, peach trees and weeds.

There by the side of the house was an old well with brush all around it instead of roses and other lovely flowers. There were no flowers but there were beautiful vines climbing up the well and up the side of the house covering the windows. What do you think was on these vine blossoms. There were hundreds of little yellow and black bees. There were also many bees on the peach blossoms on trees by the house.

Beside the well ran a little road where blackberry vines grew. These blackberry vines that had many of the juiciest berries were eaten by the passing children while they also picked the Indian Pipes and other beautiful flowers.

—Jerome Dusek.

MRS. DURWARD HAUSE IS HOSTESS IN EASTER PARTY FOR ENTRE NOUS BRIDGE CLUB

A very prettily dispensed Easter party was given by Mrs. Durward Hause Monday evening when she had as her guests members of the Entre Nous Bridge Club and one additional player, Mrs. Lester Williams.

Rabbits placed about the room were reminders of the season, score pads and tallies were in the chosen motif, and during the games candy rabbits were served in yellow and white mint cups. Miss Hilda Burke made high score and Miss Iva Wilson was low. Table cuts which were jar of candy in Easter wrappings, were won by Miss Frances Hause, Mrs. Fred Johnson and Mrs. Lester Williams.

The hostess offered her guests a pear salad, sandwiches and iced tea after the games from trays decorated with Easter covers and centered with rabbits, which were cut for as table favors. Plate favors were smaller rabbits.

This club has recently added a third table of players to its membership, and the new members present Monday evening were Mesdames Kenneth Keith and Fred Johnson and Misses Essie McCall and Margaret McCown.

Local Artists

ed by Dr. Rischar and drawn by Miss Lorenz. There were two other paintings, one of a barefoot fisher boy and the other a portrait of Dr. Edward Rischar.

Mrs. J. M. Ralston was not present, but from her collection of paintings there was a pastoral scene

A splendid portrait study of Miss Annie McLane's grandmother was shown, and three camera studies that are the work of Mr. J. C. Martin.

In the display of handpainted china was work done by Miss Mollie Moore, who is an honorary member of the club and who gave an interesting talk explaining how the china is fired; by Miss Annie McLane, also a member of the club who told something of her work; and by Mrs. J. M. Ralston, who has a very beautiful and intricate piece which she calls her 'jewel plate.' Miss Henderson showed some pieces owned by her mother which were done by Mrs. Albert Pool of Abilene, formerly of Cameron, and by Mrs. Mary Henderson of Albuquerque, New Mexico, also formerly of Cameron.

Mention was made of Miss Cornelia Wallace (Mrs. Paul Jones), a former Cameron girl, who has a studio in Paris and is doing excellent work. Her mother, Mrs. E. A. Wallace, is also a talented artist, but none of their work was available for exhibit.

Cameron talent is not confined only to painting, judging from the remainder of the program Tuesday evening. There is and has been been much literary talent here. Poems written by Mrs. Sharlie Acree, a former Cameron resident were read by Mrs. Meta McCown; one written by Mrs. Nora Hefley Mahan of Eastland, also originally from Cameron, was read by Mrs. Millicent Bradford; and two by Mrs. J. M. F. Gill of Abilene, who once lived in Cameron, were read by Miss Bess DuBois. Mrs. J. B. Wolf, a present resident of Cameron, has the gift of rhyme,' and Mrs. Kathryn Robbins read a poem of hers which was inspired by a birthday party given her by her friends last year.

Mention was made of the literary work of Robert Lowe, who teaches English at Purdue University; of Max Rynolds, of Dallas. and of Mrs. T. S. Henderson, Sr., of Cameron, who has written 'A Christmas Story,' both fact and imagination, based on an incident in the life of Mr. Henderson's brother, Captain John N. Henderson.

During the business session preceding the program, reports were heard from the finance chairman, Miss Ann Stallworth, relative to the proceeds from the play, 'Aunt Lucia,' which the club sponsored last month, and from the chairman of the Park committee, Mrs. Lottie Bigbee, who reported that evergreens had been given the club by J. K. Freeman. W. W. Chambers, Andy Vogelsang, Mrs. John S. Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Owens of Brownwood.

Announcement was made concerning the meeting of District 3 of the state Business and Professional Womens organization, which is to be held at Waco, April 26 and 27. The club was asked by a representative of the Cameron Symphony Club to devote the program at the next meeting May 6, to music in observance of National Music Week, which is to be observed May 4-10. Those members of the B. & P. W. club who are athletically inclined plan to organize a basketball team to play games with the high school team and the one of student nurses from the Cameron hospital. A committee on organization of a team was appointed, consisting of Miss Anderson, Miss Ivy Wilson and Mrs. Kathryn Robbins.

Guests in addition to Mrs. McIntosh and Mrs. Green were Miss Irene Pruett of Austin and Mrs. Dan Legacy.

Refreshments served following the program were also Cameron made and consisted of soda pop, cookies, sandwiches, potato chips and deviled eggs.

ST. RITA'S CIRCLE TO IMPROVE CATHOLIC CHURCH GROUNDS

Members of St. Rita's Circle of St. Monica's church have taken as a recent project the improving of the grounds at the church. Plans were discussed at the last meeting, which was with Mrs. Jerry Mikula and a committee consisting of Mrs. E. O. Echiller, Mrs. Bill Balhorn and Mrs. Ralph Michalka was appointed to purchase shrubs and plants. These ladies went to nurseries in surrounding towns and carefully selected all shrubs.

In addition to the planting of evergreens the ladies are superintending the building of a driveway on the north side of the church. When the work is finished members of the circle expect the property to be truly 'beautiful St. Monica's.' The Circle met Wednesday of this week with Mrs. Rudolph Richter.

DELPHIAN CHAPTER HEARS REVIEW OF YEARS WORK

A review of a part of the year's work comprised the program at the meeting of the Delphian Chapter on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lena Baskin.

Mrs. Ben Atkinson, leader for the afternoon discussed 'Our Debt to the Middle Ages;' Mrs. Lena Baskin discussed 'The Beginnings of Modern Political Problems;' Mrs. E. A. Flinn's subject was The Beginnings of Our Institutions;' and Miss Winnie Henderson's was 'Figures and Forces which Shaped Modern Europe.'

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Floris Criswell and the program will be a continuation of the review.

MASQUERADE PARTY

Members of the Ellen Caver Class of the Baptist Sunday school enjoyed a masquerade costume party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Willard Keith. The various assortment of costumes furnished entertainment as the guests were arriving, and during the evening many games were played.

Refreshments consisting of refrigerator cake, fruit punch and hard candies were served. Mrs. F. J. Beckerman is teacher of this class and Miss Grace Mangum is the class president.

MRS. OXSHEER SMITH HOSTESS TO FRIDAY BRIDGE CLUB

Bluebonnets, Indian paint brush and dogwood blossoms furnished floral adornment for the Oxsheer Smith home when Mrs. Smith was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club last week. Mesdames T. S. Henderson, Sr., Geo. A. Thomas and J. W. Coleman were callers for the tea hour.

Game awards of pink and blue desk waste paper baskets were presented to Mrs. Rush Thomas for high score and to Mrs. John Watson for low

The hostess served a two-course collation consisting of a salad plate and a strawberry shortcake and coffee.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, and Mrs. Dan LeGacy of Idaho.

J. P. LOONEY

Funeral services for J. P. Looney, age 73 years, were held at the Friendship church Wednesday afternoon, April 2 with Rev. Chapman, pastor of the Methodist church at Buckholts, officiating. He was assisted by Rev. Gregory, also of Buckholts.

Mr. Looney died Tuesday afternoon April 1, at his home in the Friendship community. He was born in Louisiana, but he moved to Milam County, Texas, during his early boyhood and had lived here ever since. His wife died about ten years ago.

Mr. Looney was a member of the Milam County Bar. He was a former Justice of the Peace in his precinct, and at one time was county surveyor of this county. A member of the Methodist church, he took an active part in the religious life of his community. He belonged to the Knights of Pythias Lodge.

Mr. Looney is survived by one son, Graham Looney, with whom he made his home at Friendship; two brothers James Looney of Honolulu and R. H. Looney of Colorado City, Texas; and one sister, Mrs. Frank Graham who lives near Sharpe. The only out of town relatives present for the funeral was a niece, Mrs. King, of Huntsville.

Interment was in the Friendship cemetery. Pall bearers were as follows: Ross McQuary, Dave Fowler, J. D. Shelton, John Shelton, Carrol Adams and Hiram Walker.
